The Utah Commission Meet

[illegible], Oct. 25.—Times' Washington special: The commissioners are here preparing their report. The president, and ex-Senator Ramsey, Judge [illegible] and Mr. Godfrey had an interview of some length with the secretary of the interior to-day. The [illegible] of the full commission will be held [illegible]. The three members named had a [illegible] after leaving Secretary Teller as [illegible] to be discussed in their report. [illegible] not give any particulars as to what they [illegible], but in a general way they claim [illegible] that while the Edmunds bill has not accomplished [illegible] was hoped, it accomplished something and [illegible] the first piece of anti-polygamous legislation [illegible] has done any good. There are several [illegible] in regard to which their experience has led [illegible] to think that the law may be made more efficient, and they will recommend supplementary legislation.

Judge Carlton says that while no statistics on the subject of plural marriages can be obtained, the result of careful inquiry by him, both in Salt Lake and in the farming regions, satisfies him that [illegible] is decreasing. Four-fifths of the male [illegible], he says, are not and never have been in [illegible]. About a thousand officials of all kinds [illegible] elected under the supervision of commissioners, and while nearly all of them are Mormons, not one is or has been [illegible]. Monogamist Mormons bow [illegible] believe fully in polygamy and he has [illegible] strong hopes that the monogamous legislature [illegible] will enact any law hostile to [illegible]. The registrar of one settlement [illegible] the commission told him that the only [illegible] votes cast at the last election were cast [illegible] and his wife, and the Mormons cast about [illegible]. While plural marriages used to be very [illegible] in this solidly Mormon community, he was [illegible] that not a case of the kind had occurred for a year, and he attributed this to the fear of the [illegible] law. The judge found no disloyalty [illegible] government except in so far as Mormons [illegible] and was then [illegible] rather than the commands of men, but [illegible] resort to resistance. The judge [illegible] that martial law would avail or that [illegible] would follow from the employment [illegible].

The Army of the Cumberland

[illegible], Oct. 25.—At a business meeting of the society of the Army of the Cumberland this morning the committee reported re-election of the present officers. Adopted.

[illegible] Kelly of Louisville opposed the resolution [illegible] the portrait of General Thomas, [illegible] W. Price and asking congress to purchase. Adopted.

The society then went to the chamber of commerce upon invitation of that body. The hall was [illegible] decorated with banners, shields and bunting. [illegible] made an address, presenting [illegible] to the merchants. Captain W. W. Peabody, president of the chamber of commerce responded, and then introduced in turn Generals [illegible], Rosecrans, Logan, Hazen, Keifer, Kimball, [illegible] and Consul Emil Frey, all of whom [illegible] addresses which were well received.

The closing of the session consisted of a banquet [illegible] in Music hall. Chairs in the auditorium [illegible] and nine long tables parallel with the length of the building and another running [illegible] in front of the stage afforded room for [illegible] persons. About 600 sat down to the banquet, the first circle seats were occupied mainly by [illegible] accompanying members or friends of resident members. A band on the stage furnished music. [illegible] the absence of General Sheridan who was [illegible] this evening, General Rosecrans presided. Toasts and responses were the order of the evening. The members express much satisfaction [illegible] success of this re-union.

Rosecrans Denies the Report of Yesterday

[illegible], Oct. 25.—The attention of General Rosecrans was called to an article published this morning containing extracts from interviews with him printed yesterday in the Washington Republican, in which he is severe upon the conduct of General Wood at the battle of Chickamauga and in which he talks of the relations between himself and General Garfield. He has sent to the Commercial for publication to-morrow this card:

"The statements in your paper to-day under the caption of 'Rebellion Reminiscences' are so distorted [illegible] and contrary to what I have always thought [illegible] stated that nothing short of a disavowal [illegible] will do justice to history.

[illegible] W. S. ROSECRANS."

General Rosecrans in conversation expressed regret at the publication especially at the time of a [illegible] where he and General Wood are in attendance.

Heavy Failure in Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Eddy Harvey & Co., wholesale [illegible] hats, caps and furs, made a voluntary assignment to-day. Liabilities estimated at about [illegible]. No estimates of the assets are obtainable. [illegible] debts are due chiefly in New York. The [illegible] cause of the failure is understood to be [illegible] of paper in that city which the firm [illegible] to meet, and contributory causes were [illegible] trade and sharp competition. There are no [illegible] among the creditors. The firm is one of the oldest and best known in their line of business [illegible] highly rated by commercial agencies. The [illegible] circumstances a year ago, but [illegible] special partners with $150,000 capital and [illegible] hat and shoe department. Their failure [illegible] unlooked for.

Baltimore Municipal Election.

Baltimore, Oct. 24.—The municipal election for mayor and city council brought out the largest vote ever polled in this city at an election. Two tickets were in the field, [illegible] ticket headed General F. C. Latrobe for mayor, and citizens, or fusion, ticket headed by [illegible] Marshall, a reform democrat and [illegible] marshal. The latter was nominated by [illegible] of gentlemen styling themselves reform democrats, and subsequently endorsed by the [illegible] republican convention. The total vote for mayor was 58,574. Latrobe 29,147; Herskell [illegible]. Latrobe's majority 3540. The first branch of the council consisted of twenty members, one [illegible] ward. The democrats elected ten members and the fusionists ten. Second branch the [illegible] democrats elected six and the fusionists [illegible].

The Episcopal Convention

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—In the Episcopal convention to-day Mr. Chatwood of California offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That in consideration of the report of the joint committee on prayer book no motion shall be entertained involving changes by way of [illegible] of the prayer book not contained in the [illegible] of the committee.

The house of bishops went into committee of the [illegible] and concluded consideration of the report of the joint committee on prayer book. The committee [illegible] on the time for adjournment decided [illegible] convention adjourn to-morrow evening and [illegible] next meeting be held at Chicago.

Meeting of Colored Citizens

[illegible], Oct. 25.—A well-attended meeting of colored citizens was held to-night for the purpose of protesting against the recent decision of the supreme court on the civil rights bill. A number of speeches were made. The one which met the most [illegible] was delivered by W. F. Poll[illegible] of the church in which the meeting was held. [illegible] the course of his remarks that the [illegible] to be race. I have always been a republican, but now I believe we should give [illegible] to that party which will give us our [illegible]. If it runs the devil's ticket or Ben [illegible].

Fence Cutting in Texas.

[illegible], Oct. 25.—News Coleman special: A [illegible] of citizens last night considered the subject of fence cutting. Both sides represented [illegible] should be suspended for fifteen [illegible] to canvass the sentiment of the [illegible] stipulated that no more large [illegible] be inclosed until after the special [illegible] the legislature, in January.

Must Yield or Resign

[illegible], Oct. 25.—Times' Washington special: [illegible] that one member of the cabinet has [illegible] of interference with his department by [illegible] another and that if the president [illegible] the responsibility, the dissatisfied officer [illegible] resign.

[illegible]—Americans in Europe

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Pere Hyacinth [illegible] arrive by the Alaska will lecture on the present position on relation of France [illegible] United States.

[illegible] Americans have registered abroad [illegible] season just closed, chiefly made up from [illegible] with a fair proportion from Chicago and the [illegible].

A Strange Religious Freak

[illegible], Oct. 25.—The Times' Hartford (Connecticut) special says that in the village of Lakeville [illegible], a life-sized figure of Christ is fastened [illegible] at a street corner. The merchants [illegible] petitioned for its removal have been boycotted [illegible], and now the Protestant ladies propose to retaliate by securing colored servants from [illegible] South.

Money Forwarded

[illegible], Oct. 25.—Sullivan, one of the counsel [illegible] of O'Donnell, was cabled from London [illegible] that the prisoner had a good prospect [illegible] but money was needed to procure witnesses [illegible] South Africa. The treasurer of the O'Donnell [illegible] at once forwarded $2,000.

Villard to be Examined.

New York, Oct. 25.—Anderson and Mann have applied [illegible] Bartlett to-day for an order to [illegible] Villard, president of the Northern Pacific [illegible] reference to the standing of the company [illegible] was granted. William M. Evarts and [illegible] have been retained by the Northern [illegible].

Thirty Thousand Dollars Plowed Up.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A Times Kansas City special says: On the farm in Kansas once occupied by the murderous Bender family J. C. Murphy plowed up a sealed can containing $30,000 in greenbacks and coin. Other parties are digging up ground in hopes of making similar discoveries.

An Unsuccessful Search.

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Christian K. Ross who has just returned from an unsuccessful search for his son Charley Ross says he has not abandoned the clue but is obliged to give it up on account of the publicity given it by the press.

Apprehensive of Danger

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Serious apprehensions exist among merchants in the China trade that a formidable uprising is impending at Canton against all foreigners. It is stated the government is being strongly urged to dispatch more war vessels there.

Secured a Heavy Judgment

New York, Oct. 25.—Dr. J. F. Taylor has secured a judgment of $40,000 against the Metropolitan elevated railway for running trains past a house which he had previously rented for a hospital.

Slosson Victorious.

Chicago, Oct. 25.—A game for cushion carom championship was played to-night between Sexton and Slosson. The score stood Slosson 600, Sexton 491. Winner's average 3¾.

Placed in Liquidation

Philadelphia, Oct. 25.—It is stated that the Commercial National bank of Reading will be placed in liquidation. Depositors will probably be paid in full.

A Frightful Epidemic

Greensborough, N. C., Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Over 300 children have been carried off during the diphtheria epidemic, but it is now abating.

The Bennett Mackay Cables.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—The steamer Faraday which is to lay the Bennett Mackay cables sailed this evening for London.

Mining Excitement in Dakota.

Fargo, Dakota, Oct. 25.—A company of leading citizens have filed mining claims for 200 acres on the town site of Lisbon and subscribed $50,000 to work it. In all that region nothing but gold discoveries is talked about.

NORTHERN PACIFIC AFFAIRS.

The Effort to Enjoin the Second Mortgage Bond — The Stock Market.

New York, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—It is stated that the syndicate before taking the Northern Pacific bonds, consulted the best legal talent in the city and are satisfied that no injunction can hold unless the assent of three-quarters of the preferred stock holders is obtained first. The Financial Chronicle says: The announcement that the injunction has been already granted is premature. Whether it will be granted remains to be seen. One J. J. Bradley, who had 200 shares of Northern Pacific common stock transferred to his name on Saturday last, made application to the superior court for injunction to restrain the company from making a mortgage to secure the proposed new issue of bonds until congress shall have given its consent to such mortgage. The right to mortgage the roads and lands was given by two joint resolutions of congress, one dated March 1, 1869, and the other May 31, 1870, without limitation as to amount.

The Telegram says the proffered bet that Northern Pacific preferred will sell below 45 this year has been withdrawn. The Mills party is long on the bull list and D. O. Mills says that it is very unlikely that the stocks will be as low again as they were in the early part of last week.

Kiernan's News Letter says: At the close to-day the opinion was expressed that if the bulls will only have patience there is no reason why they cannot carry the war into the enemy's camp. Everything is now favorable for continuance of the bull campaign which has been commenced, and can be successfully carried through.

A special from New York to the Philadelphia Press says: The sudden conversion of Jim Keene to the bull side of the market is one of the striking features of the Wall street excitement. He was asked to-day if he had really got over and replied: Yes sir, I am a bull on the market and you can say so in the press.

On what grounds have you changed your position?

On the low price of stocks. Nearly everything has got down to a profitable basis for purchasers and I think it is time to buy stocks and hold for a rise. The export demand for great staples is growing daily and indications are that trade will be heavy. General business is on a fairly prosperous foundation and our railroads are not in nearly so bad a plight as some people would have the public believe. All the railroads are making money.

Are you bullish on some special stocks or general? I am bullish on everything Northern Pacific and all other stocks.

WASHINGTON CITY

The Garlington Inquiry

Washington, Oct. 25.—Lieutenant Garlington was interrogated concerning certain matters pertaining to the Greely expedition yesterday and answered the following questions by Secretary Chandler:

Why out of six boats were none left for Greely and his party?

Garlington's reply is to the effect that he had but two boats and a dingy. The latter was for use only in perfectly smooth water and these boats were old and almost useless and had neither spare sails nor rudders. Besides Greely has eight boats available on the west coast and another on Carey islands.

In answer to the question why he started south with forty days supplies instead of leaving a large portion for Greely, Garlington says: The quantity of food taken by him was smaller than that ever taken by any party retreating from that region and as it was his men suffered from want of food by the time they reached Upernavik.

To the last question, "Why did you come south of Cape York at all, it being in a friendly Esquimaux country and fairly supplied with the necessaries of life?" This was answered by Garlington with the assertion that the friendly Esquimaux in the vicinity of Cape York number 125, all told, that they are on the verge of starvation every winter and if they had quartered a party on these people with a chance of Greely's reaching there, they would but seriously endanger the lives of the whole community. Garlington says if these answers are not satisfactory he desires a court of inquiry.

Washington Notes

Washington, Oct. 25.—The treasury department to-day purchased 425,000 ounces of silver for delivery at the Philadelphia, New Orleans and San Francisco mints.

The naval advisory board recommended construction of seven new naval vessels.

McFarland, commissioner of the general land office, is gradually reducing the number of land offices as opportunity arises.

The funeral of W. P. Copeland, the well known Washington correspondent, took place to-day from his late residence. There was a large attendance of public men and journalists. Floral tributes were in large numbers, including an elaborate and beautiful piece from President Arthur, and a heavy pall woven with flowers covered the entire casket, a tribute from his newspaper associates. The interment will be at Oak Hill.

E. N. Clark, chief of the revenue marine service, has just received from the government printing office the first copies of a beautifully illustrated quarto volume devoted to the scientific results of the Arctic cruise of the revenue cutter Corwin under Captain Hooper last summer.

General Grant in 1884

Washington, Oct. 16.—It is thought to be the intention of the friends of General Grant to present his name again for the presidency. It is quite evident that General Grant has no idea of going into retiracy. On the recent Northern Pacific excursion he was never invisible when a crowd collected, was always ready to speak when called up, and on several occasions made two or three speeches in one day, and good ones at that. General Sherman a short time since was reported as saying that Grant had ruined himself by going into politics, but Grant does not look upon it in that light, and is not loth to take a little more ruin of the same sort if he can get it.

The Corean Embassy

Washington, Oct. 25.—The members of the Corean embassy who remained in Washington, including Min[illegible] Ik, minister, and two attaches, called on the secretaries of state and navy to-day. They were received at the navy department by Secretary Chandler and Rear Admiral Shufeldt. The embassy will return to Corea on the United States steamer Trenton, now being fitted out in the New York navy yard for an Asiatic station. She will sail in November. Ensign Foulk has been designated by the president to accompany the embassy to Corea and will remain in that country some time.

Ordered to Co-operate

Washington, Oct. 25.—At the request of Postmaster-General Gresham, Attorney General Brewster has addressed a circular to all district attorneys directing them to cordially co-operate with officers of the postoffice department in enforcing section 389 of the revised statutes which forbids any letter or circular concerning lotteries being carried in the mail. The penalty for violating this act is a fine of not more than $500 nor less than $100 with costs of prosecution.

Pension Agents Suspended

Washington, Oct. 25.—Commissioner of Pensions Dudley has prepared for District Attorney Corkhill a large amount of documentary evidence collected by agents of the pension office in relation to the swindling operations of pension claim agents. General Dudley will detail a special examiner to assist the district attorney in his investigation. A number of dishonest pension agents have already been suspended from practice before the pension bureau.

Contract Awarded

Washington, Oct. 25.—The secretary of the navy awarded the contract for armor-plate turrets and pilot house for the monitor Miantonomah to an English firm.

ACCIDENTS

BICYCLE RIDER INJURED

Chicago, Oct. 25.—During a storm to-day the canvas covering of the bicycle rink fell in. Woodside, one of the riders in the six days' contest, was injured, but will be able to reappear. The race will be started again to-morrow.

CRUSHED TO DEATH BY CARS

Denver, Oct. 25.—William Cleeland, a switchman at the Kansas Pacific yard, was crushed to death between two cars this morning.

She Would Drink with Him

Lafayette (Ind.) Courier

A lady of this city—a model wife and mother—broke her husband of the saloon habit by walking up to the bar beside him and calling for the beer. She broke the awful silence as they walked home with the remark: "I love you, my husband, and if you're going to hell I'm going right along with you."

AN ASSASSIN ARRESTED

London, Oct. 25.—A Times special says: A Turk quarreled with and mortally wounded a Greek yesterday and the rumor spread that the Turks were massacreing Christians. The governor general of Smyrna, who is here directing measures for the relief of the sufferers, landed a body of sailors and arrested the assassin. This prompt action prevented dangerous disorders.

IMMEDIATE RELIEF NEEDED

London, Oct. 25.—A Tchesme dispatch says: Unless immediate relief is forthcoming hundreds of persons whose houses were wrecked by the recent earthquake will die from fever and exposure. The relief hitherto afforded has been slight, being only confined to food. Not so much as cloth, blankets, medicine and material to build temporary shelter has been furnished.

WITHHOLDS HIS SANCTION

London, Oct. 25.—Earl Derby, secretary for the colonies, has refused to sanction the enterprise of the New Guinea Exploration and Colonization Company. If the company attempts to carry out the project the general will instruct the high commissioner to interfere for the protection of the natives.

AN ENLIVENING DISCUSSION IN THE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

Paris, Oct. 25.—Discussion of the municipal bill was resumed in the chamber of deputies to-day. The amendment of the extreme left favoring payment of municipal councilors was rejected by the chamber, whereupon M. Granet, radical deputy, receiving consent to put the question, said recent official statistics respecting officers in Tonquin showed extreme gravity in the situation. Explanations, he declared, were indispensable. His remarks were received with cheers by the extreme left. Protests were also made by members of other republican groups. They condemned the ministry because it had failed to convene the chambers at an early date and asked that the government give them an opportunity to open discussion on the Tonquin question. If the government refused to do this they would take steps to force a discussion. Prime Minister Ferry replied that he regretted no notice had been given. He would be prepared to discuss Tonquin matters when supplementary credits were introduced. The date of their introduction had not yet been fixed, but when the credits were submitted the cabinet would demand either complete approval or disapproval of its action. M. Ferry's speech was loudly cheered. M. Granet gave notice that he would introduce an interpellation Saturday, and three Bonapartist deputies announced that they would submit a motion for impeachment of the ministry. In the lobbies the opinion prevails that M. Granet's interpellation will fail and it is the belief that the ministry will have a large majority.

AN ALLIANCE WITH THE ORLEANISTS REPORTED

Paris, Oct. 25.—Rochefort's Intransigeant believes an agreement exists between the ministry and the Duke de Aumale as a representative of the Orleanists contemplating the establishment of an Orleans dynasty in France, and says that Premier Ferry would rather remain in office and lend his assistance to a restoration of monarchy than resign in order that the republic might live. Republican journals assert that while an understanding between the ministry and Orleanists may exist it extends no further than a parliamentary alliance.

Prague, Oct. 25.—Owing to the violence of small pox in the Seickow suburb a double cordon has been established to prevent spread of the disease.

CHINA

THE FRENCH MUST FIGHT OR QUIT

London, Oct. 25.—A Hong Kong correspondent says it is difficult to estimate the exact military position at Tonquin. Two months ago the Chinese force on the Yunnan frontier numbered 9,000, all armed with modern weapons. At Bachnik were 3000 Chinese troops. It is very probable the French will soon succeed in driving the Chinese from Tonquin, but the real conflict will only commence when the frontier has been reached. Tonquin will then be another Acheen, but on an immensely larger scale. The only apparent solution of the difficulty is a compromise or a French advance on Pekin.

TURKEY

THE EARTHQUAKE VICTIMS TO BE ASSISTED

Constantinople, Oct. 25.—Many inhabitants of Smyrna are fleeing from the city on account of fear of further earthquakes. The government has sent a sufficient quantity of timber to construct sheds for those rendered homeless by the catastrophe. Editors of local papers here have formed a committee for aid of the sufferers. Slight shocks are still occurring at long intervals [illegible] Ismid.

RUSSIA

FREE SPEECH AND A FREE PRESS DEMANDED

St. Petersburg, Oct. 25.—The latest nihilist proclamation now being extensively circulated demands that the czar summon representatives of the Russian people and asks for full amnesty, freedom of the press, freedom of speech and the right to hold public meetings as the only means of preventing revolution. Pitiless vengeance is threatened if the demand of the nihilists is disregarded.

LUNDBORG'S RHENISH COLOGNE

PRODUCING AND CONSUMING COUNTRIES

Interesting Report by Henry B. Snyder, U. S. Consul to Copenhagen

On the list of grain exporting lands the United States ranks preeminently first and foremost. Not so many years have elapsed since Russia occupied this position, and in 1877 these two countries were about equal, but in later years the United States has largely surpassed Russia. These large supplies from the United States naturally have had great influence upon the European grain markets, and the severe rivalry which the farming interests in so many parts of Europe are now passing through is doubtless due to this severe competition. Many writers on this side of the water seem to be of the opinion that the culminating point has now been reached, that the virgin soils of the western states will shortly be exhausted, and that with a largely increasing population in the states and with a call for the use of artificial manures on the soil, the export supplies will be diminished and the cost of production so much augmented that European farmers will not long have to contend against this formidable competition. These views will scarcely be realized. The constantly increasing competition of the United States combined with the political disturbances in the Balkan peninsula and the bad harvests of 1879 and 1880 have reduced in a great measure to lessen the influence of Russian supplies on the world's grain markets. Austria-Hungary is likewise mainly an agricultural land, and with its fertile fields that is not over large population will doubtless for a long time be able to rank among the grain exporting countries. Until a few years back attention in the British East Indian territory was mostly concentrated on the production of rice, but since then the cultivation and export of Indian wheat has largely increased. In England attention is now being strongly directed to the furtherance of an increased cultivation, and it is freely asserted that India in a few years will be able to produce from 30,000,000 to 40,000,000 quarters of wheat of a quality equal to that of the United States or of Russia. While in 1871-2 the exports only amounted to somewhat over 100,000 quarters, in 1880-1 it had reached to 1,400,000 quarters and in 1881-2 to as much as 4,000,000 quarters, about 80 per cent thereof being directed to Great Britain and the remainder to France, Belgium and Italy. It is only of late years that Algiers has been of any consequence as a grain exporting land, but a large development may be looked for if the plans for bringing the waste lands under cultivation now entertained by French capitalists should meet with success. The grain production of Australia does not appear to have made such progress as was expected. Wheat alone is shown to yield a surplus of any consequence for export. These

Which in 1880 received about 1,000,000 quarters, the largest quantity yet reached. Egypt [illegible] system prevents all development of agriculture and the export, which is mainly of wheat, scarcely exceeds 300,000 quarters. Turning next to the list of grain importing lands, Great Britain stands prominently forward in the first rank, at a pace increasing year by year and due to three causes, namely: The large annual increase of population, that more bread is now consumed by the people than formerly, and lastly that wheat cultivation owing to unremunerative prices is yearly being reduced—the wheat lands being either sown with other cereals or else turned into pasture land. Wheat is the preponderating cereal [illegible] England, the average of the years 1871 [illegible] being [illegible] 000,000 quarters. In this importation the United States is the chief factor, and with Canada furnishes more than half of this land's requirements. In France, although the yield of crops has in recent years during the last fifty years still [illegible] a continually good harvest years that [illegible] its own requirements [illegible] where agriculture may be considered [illegible] high standard [illegible] able to support the population with [illegible] supplies [illegible]. These supplies were in the first instance entirely obtained from Russia, but now they are likewise received from Hungary. The [illegible] amount of imports and exports of the whole world in the trade of cereals in the latter years has reached the enormous figures of [illegible] quarters, and of [illegible] 68,000,000 [illegible]. This collective quantity in the year 1880 was more than double that of 1870. [illegible] international grain trade of later years is in a great measure due [illegible] communication, railway and [illegible] steamship [illegible] and [illegible] at large by reducing [illegible] of [illegible] the great staples [illegible] food [illegible] the [illegible] agricultural interests [illegible] owing to the [illegible] which they have [illegible] quarters of the globe [illegible] are [illegible] more lands [illegible]

For this reason, if for no other, the two headed cat is pronounced a failure.—Peck's Sun.

An Inflated Currency

From the New York Life

Owing to the unfortunate fact that the chips loaned to the Thompson Street Poker Club by Mr. Rube Jackson had been garnished by Mr. Gus Johnson (see Rule 147, which provides for the payment of I. O. U.'s) the members present last Saturday evening were compelled to play with beans, a limited quantity of which had been thoughtfully secured by the Rev. Mr. Thankful Smith while passing a produce store in the late afternoon.

The cards ran well, and as Mr. Smith himself was responsible for the bank the betting was unusually brilliant. Mr. Smith was never in better luck, nor Mr. Tooter Williams in worse. Notwithstanding the heavy losses of the latter gentleman, however, the supply of beans seemed never to run short, and after several hours of play this excited suspicion in the banker.

"Lemme jess cash up and see how de bank stan's," said that patriarch, to [illegible] usually [illegible] illegal burst of business from Mr. Williams had started [illegible] the players.

Mr. Gus Johnson passed in ninety-six beans and got his money.

Professor Brick had thirty-nine, fourths and a half, but consented after some haggling to call it just thirty-nine.

Mr. Rube Jackson had several two beans, but owed the bank seventy-five. He settled the difference with coin. All accounts had now been squared except that of Mr. Williams.

The Rev. Mr. Smith emptied the beans into his hat, put the pack into his pocket and made away with the stuffed wallet. Everybody was fixed on Mr. Williams.

"Look hyah, niggah—what's le cash for dese beans?" asked that gentleman of the banker.

By way of reply Mr. Smith emptied the bank upon the table and desired the committee of the whole to count it. The return was 971 beans. Then said Mr. Smith impressively:

"I only had four hundred and sixty beans fer star[illegible]. I se winned all the jackers and mos' ob de stray [illegible] sele, an' yet I se a dollah forty-two out. Dis bank's solvent as long as de bettin's squar', but the nebber [illegible] hisself cawnt cash agin de man wat's got a mill fer case full o' beans tribblin fro' his sleeve. Girls on the Ball Field

New York Herald

Thinking it would be grand sport to defeat a nine of young ladies, five of the professional Delawares of this city sent a challenge to the Brunettes which was accepted, and the game was played at the Manhattan Athletic grounds yesterday in the presence of about one thousand spectators. The girls were, as might be expected, overmatched, but while the professionals were having fun with the girls showing the great contrast between their playing, the girls come up on them so close that they were only one run behind when the game was terminated. It was extremely amusing to see the manner in which the boys annoyed the girls by purposely getting between the bases and having the fair ones cut most ridiculous figures in their frantic efforts to put them out. Miss Temple made one of John O'Rourke's famous dives while stealing to second, which afforded no little amusement to the assemblage. Miss Rosy Stanton got mad because a ball hit her on the end of the finger and threatened to strike M. Farland for laughing at her. Gal[illegible] in the fourth inning, was amusing himself and the spectators by having the girls chase him between second and third base. He was brought to time in his sport however by Miss H[illegible] who got so excited that she caught him around the neck and held him until Miss Baseman touched him with the ball. Miss M[illegible] made a two base hit, and a [illegible] that [illegible] of the yelling crowd and [illegible] the base.

Fine Sheep Imported

East Oregonian

For some years past eastern Oregon has been noted [illegible] for a large [illegible] the enterprise of a number of energetic breeders of thoroughbred sheep. Prominent among this class is Mr. William Ross, [illegible] well known as the breeder of Spanish Merino [illegible]. Mr. Ross is [illegible] of late a gold [illegible] has with the belief that he [illegible] the best [illegible] of the state. [illegible] that as an earnest [illegible] his determination to maintain and improve his position as a breeder he has just purchased the young stock ram Sea Foam for [illegible] of Mr. L. W. Peet, breeder and manager for J. H. Strowbridge, Laurel ranch, Hayward, California. The purchase was made on representations and the description of Mr. Peet, and the animal telegraphed for to be sent by express. He arrived in good condition and fills the bill so well that Mr. Ross declares he would not part with him to-day for $500. Good judges say this animal combines more superior qualities than any sheep ever imported to this state. His register number is 14[illegible]. He was sired by an imported ram who yielded a fleece at 11 years of one year's growth of twenty-seven pounds. We congratulate Mr. Ross upon the purchase, and hope for him the success to which his energy and perseverance entitle him.

CALIFORNIA

New Settlers for the Northwest

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Captain [illegible]fingell who visited the north a few [illegible] in the interest of English parties has written a gentleman in this city stating that a number of [illegible] English capitalists will sail for the United States [illegible] on their way west will inspect one of two large tracts of land in Dakota with a view of purchasing it. He states that since his return from his trip to the Pacific coast he was surprised to see the interest taken in the northwest generally and in southern California. Speaking of immigration he says that arrangements have already been made by some forty farmers to settle in the vicinity of Snohomish, where a party of their friends settled [illegible]. They will be accompanied by their families and in his opinion will prove excellent settlers.

San Francisco Capital Looking North

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—[Special.]—Negotiations are pending for the transfer of a large tract of land near Port Townsend to parties here. It is proposed to erect an extensive mill, all the machinery for which in event of sale will be made here. One of the parties interested in the purchase is part owner in a schooner in the Mexican trade which is to be placed on the northern route as a lumber vessel. It is expected the sale will be made in a very few days. There is also some talk of building another small vessel with auxiliary steam power for the same trade.

Arrived from Alaska

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—The United States survey steamer Hassler arrived this morning from Alaska, where her officers have been engaged surveying the coast. Work was commenced at Fort Tongass at the extreme southern boundary of the territory and carried north a distance of fifty miles to Tongass narrows. A survey was also made of Nichol pass, connecting Tongass narrows with Duke Clarence strait. A fine harbor was discovered near the south end of the channel. It was named Port Chester after Commander Chester, the hydraulic inspector. The Hassler is the first vessel to pass through Nichol pass.

Economical Chinese.

San Francisco, Oct. 25.—A new Chinese fraud has just been discovered. FIGHTING REDSKINS

Engagement Between Indians and Mexican Cavalry [illegible]—Indians Committing Depredations

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 25.—The El Paso Times' special from Casa Grande confirms reports of an engagement between the Indians and Mexican cavalry near that place. The Mexican authorities refuse to tell the number of wounded and killed, but from the Americans it is learned that the hospital is full. Surgeon Torres of Chihuahua is there attending the wounded. The Indians have been [illegible] and separated into several bands of [illegible] and are raiding the surrounding country. It is believed that most of them [illegible] the state of Sonora. The natives are [illegible]. The following special to the Times shows the [illegible] crossing the line of the Mexican Central [illegible] some distance below where they [illegible]. The place named is [illegible] forty-five miles north of Chihuahua. Another dispatch states that a [illegible] came [illegible] last night [illegible]. There is great excitement [illegible] Casa Grande.

Apaches Badly Defeated

[illegible], A. T., Oct. 25.—W. H. Stuart, who has just returned here from the Swisshelm mountains, says the Apaches have been routed by the Mexican troops with great slaughter. The troops had been stationed to prevent the retreat of the savages into the Sierra Madres. The Indians then turned and [illegible] Arizona, closely followed by the Mexicans, [illegible] overtook them at the extreme end of the Swisshelms, where a running fight ensued. The Mexican commander stated that if his troops had not been completely worn out by fighting and forced marches they would have driven the red devils into the San Carlos reservation themselves. Stuart said a large body of routed Indians passed his ranch. They were poorly clad and fully one third without firearms.

Utah Notes

Salt Lake City, Oct. 25.—The passenger train due at Salt Lake this morning on the Denver and Rio Grande collided with a horse, ditched the engine and badly wounded the engineer, Wedham, and [illegible]. A excursion from the east bound for San Francisco was on the train, but none were injured.

The Central Pacific has joined in the cut from Salt Lake to San Francisco, putting the rate at forty-three cents, or eighty-five from the Missouri river to San Francisco. Business men who were sanguine yesterday that the war would be short begin to think it hardly [illegible].

CRIMINAL

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT AT TRAIN ROBBERY

Walnut Ridge, Ark., Oct. 25.—An attempt was made to rob the north bound express train on the Iron Mountain road last night about 10 o'clock between O'Kean and Delaplaine, fifteen miles north of this place. Fortunately the express train was at [illegible] and a local freight was running on the time of the express. The local was signalled by lanterns and when it stopped was boarded by a party with masks and heavily armed. After a few questions they found they had stopped the wrong train and passed [illegible] the woods with many curses, but without molesting anything or anybody. The conductor of the local telegraphed Roadmaster Griffin at this place, who started a posse of citizens headed by John Rhea and accompanied by a United States marshal, who went north on the belated express, eager for a fight with the robbers. The search is still in progress.

THE ROBBERY DECLARED A SHAM

Little Rock, Oct. 25.—Superintendent Fry says of the sensational report, telegraphed by a special correspondent, about the attempted robbery of the north bound passenger train on the Iron Mountain road between O'Kean and Delaplaine, that the entire story is unfounded; that a party of woodsawyers employed by the railroad company flagged the train to learn if it was the local train, and explained the object of their action and left.

A FRIGHTFUL PUNISHMENT

Denver, Oct. 25.—One of the Mexicans implicated in the murder of four men in Danie, near Gardner, a few nights ago, was overtaken by a band of armed citizens last night, a rope placed around his neck and the other end made fast to the horn of a saddle. The horse was then frightened into a run, dragging the poor culprit over rocks and stumps until life was extinct. When captured he stated he had been hired to commit the murder.

MURDER AND ROBBERY

Cincinnati, Oct. 25.—The Commercial Gazette's Crawfordsville, Indiana, special says that news has been received to-day of a murder last night at Wallace, twenty miles west of there. Joseph Murphy, who kept a store and saloon, was found this morning shot in three places, one through the heart. The safe was opened and $4000 stolen. Suspicion falls on a man named Davis, who escaped from Fountaine county jail on Monday and who had a grudge against Murphy.

CONVICTED OF CRIMINAL CONTEMPT

Chicago, Oct. 25.—The Times' Albany special says Frank R. Sherwin, a millionaire ranchman, has been convicted of criminal contempt of court with a recommendation to mercy. He was recently arrested in Chicago.

A COLORED PORTER MURDERED

New York, Oct. 25.—The Times' Kansas City special says: In a faro bank in West Kansas City George Wilson killed a colored porter, William Ruffin, who had reproached him for turning out a light in the hall.

Blaine and Conkling

Chicago, Oct. 25.—Hon. Emory Storrs, the eminent Chicago lawyer and warm partisan of Grant and Conkling, was to-day interviewed as to his opinion of the published rumors that Conkling and Blaine had harmonized their differences and Blaine was to receive the support of both Grant and Conkling for the next republican presidential nomination. Mr. Storrs, in answer to a question, stated that there had never been a time when he would not have cordially supported Blaine for the presidency [illegible] if nominated in 1884 [illegible] the full vote of the republican party. Mr. Storrs said in addition:

"I do not think the personal feelings of Blaine and Conkling will ever be harmonized, but I think there is no such thing as the Conkling interest and the Blaine interest. The old dividing lines between the various sections or factions of the republican party are all broken down, and I have no doubt that at the next national election the party will be a unit in support both of republican principles and the republican party. The probability is that Mr. Arthur will receive the nomination, but either Arthur, Blaine, Logan or Lincoln would receive the full vote of the republicans. The result of the Ohio election is discouraging, but there the elements were so confused that it is impossible to base any definite conclusion on that event. I do not believe the Ohio vote of last week will much influence the nominations of 1884. The idea of Blaine and Conkling being placed on the same ticket I consider absurd. There ain't room for two such men on the same horse."

RAILROAD NOTES

IMPORTANT RAILROAD DECISION

Des Moines, Oct. 25.—In the circuit court to-day Judge McCrary rendered an important decision upon the question of the right of a state to regulate interstate commerce. The question arose out of a suit against the Illinois Central, to recover damages for over charges upon freight shipped over this company's road from points in Iowa to points in Wisconsin, and originated under the tariff law of 1874, now repealed. Judge McCrary held, in the course of a very able opinion, that the act in question that applied to through shipment related to a subject which is national, and that the power of the state to pass such an act had been cancelled. "I would necessarily include the power to discriminate against the commerce of other states, and for these reasons such statute would be in violation of the federal constitution. It is not within the power of one state upon an interstate line to fix charges to be paid for carriage within its territory for the would, in effect, give it power to demand more than its share of reasonable charges for the entire distance. It would be giving to the statutes of states extra territorial force."

RAILROAD MEN ON A STRIKE

Kansas City, Oct. 25.—This afternoon railroad switchmen began to quit work and before night most of them had gone out. The Missouri Pacific and Wabash men were the first to quit work. The strikers by making rounds, persuaded most of the others to leave. The passenger trains left as usual but nothing is being done in the freight yards, the few remaining being afraid to work at night. Officials preserve a firm front and refuse to grant any advance, and maintain that if the police force is sufficient to prevent intimidation they can go on in a day or two and obviate the block. The men ask that switchmen and helpers be paid $65 a month instead of $2 a day and foremen to receive $70 a month, working months to exclude Sundays.

RUMORED EXCHANGE OF STOCKS

St. Paul, Oct. 25.—A Globe special from Minneapolis says: A rumor is current here again that the Minneapolis and St. Louis road is to pass into the hands of the Rock Island Railroad Company. Exchange of stock is on the following basis: One share of preferred and common of the Minneapolis road for one share of Rock Island. It is also stated that the stock of the Minneapolis road has been depressed by insiders, in order to buy up the floating stock cheaply.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon

The East Oregonian, under the significant heading of "Our Turn Will Come," warns the people of Pendleton of the necessity of making better preparation to protect the town against fire.

Owing to the inability of Mr. Kennedy on account of sickness to take charge of the railroad extension in the Blue mountains the whole line has been put under the supervision of E. H. Mix, formerly resident engineer between Baker City and Burnt river. The promotion is a deserved compliment to Mr. Mix.

On Thursday last, says the East Oregonian, 700 or 800 sacks of wheat belonging to L. H. Bowman of Eureka Flat caught fire on a ranch, destroying the entire lot of grain. As men were busy around the pile hauling away the straw, it is supposed that the fire caught in the straw from a cigar or a lighted match. The grain was fully insured.

Western Oregon

Astorian: The prevalence of scarlet fever raises the question in the minds of the school directors in district No. [illegible] whether it is best to temporarily close the school.

Oregon City Enterprise: Messrs. Wilbern, Forrester and M. Dehall? of Eagle creek, while descending a steep hill in a wagon behind a four horse team, were unfortunate enough to break the king bolt. The two latter were thrown out and alighting on their heads remained senseless until Mr. Wilbern, who stuck to the wagon, could get out, prop them up and pour water down their backs. He succeeded in bringing them out all right soon.

Washington Territory

A mass meeting held at Spokane Falls on the 23d denounced Jacob Stitzel, joint representative of Spokane and Stevens counties, for his opposition to the Spokane division bill.

John C. Davenport, the Cheney banker who recently failed, has returned to that place. Mr. Davenport promises to pay all his creditors dollar for dollar if only an opportunity is given him to do so.

Jesse Cadwallader of Dayton, W. T., who came to Oregon in 1844, served in the Cayuse war and afterward lived in Umpqua, is about to depart for the eastern states and probably will not return.

Seattle Herald: Mr. H. Yesling, who recently returned from Whatcom, states that buildings are being erected here at the rate of one a day, but that there are plenty of carpenters on hand to do the work.

Dement Bros. have been awarded contracts to furnish flour to military posts as follows: Coeur d'Alene about [illegible], Vancouver same, Walla Walla about [illegible]. The contract price per bbl. for Coeur d'Alene is $3 [illegible] of board of cars here; for Walla Walla $3 48. There was considerable competition for these contracts, Dement Bros. offering the lowest figures.

Seattle [illegible]: Yesterday morning two Indians named Libby and Sam [illegible] engaged in a quarrel near Snohomish City which resulted in the instant death of the last named brave. Libby plunged a butcher knife into his breast and ended his career. The cause of the quarrel is unknown. They were both civilized Indians and each held a homestead on the Snohomish river.

A correspondent writing to the Walla Walla Union says: I am informed that all grading has been stopped on the Yakima division of the Northern Pacific, but the twenty-five mile contract has been finished and the work of track laying will begin in a few days. This twenty-five mile section begins at a point four miles up the Columbia from the mouth of Snake and extends to the Yakima, at Horse Shoe bend.

Of the Yakima branch railroad the Record says: "We learn from sources to be relied upon that the twenty-five miles of grade under contract by Mr. Bennett is nearly finished. There are about 300 men at work on the Columbia river bridge, and the work is progressing rapidly. The bridge is expected to be completed by the first of April. Cars may be running on the twenty-five miles this side within two months."

Dr. F. K. Blake, of Helena, Montana, brought in a few days ago as the result of a week's hunt twenty deer and a grizzly bear weighing 1000 pounds.

The Union Pacific is erecting an extensive plant of machine shops at Shoshone, Idaho. Shoshone Falls, which are said to excel those of Niagara in grandeur, are located within twenty-five miles of the place. Next spring a regular line of stages are to be run from the town to them.

The new contrivances for saving the flour gold in the Snake river placers are working well. Two parties are working the new system, one of which, composed of three men, are cleaning up $100 of fine gold per day, and the other, though refusing a statement, are certainly doing as well.

It is definitely settled that the recently discovered Coeur d'Alene placers are located within the boundaries of Shoshone county, Idaho. All accounts agree that the mines are rich and extensive, but all equally agree in advising prospectors to stay away until the winter is over.

Making a Young Man Disappear.

New York Sun

Mr. John Barry, a tall middle aged man residing near Galena, Ill., is visiting friends in this city. He crossed the Catharine street ferry from Brooklyn on Wednesday and walked up to the Bowery. At the corner of the Bowery a well dressed man of gentlemanly appearance stepped up to Mr. Barry and extended his hand.

"I knew at once," Mr. Barry said in the evening, "that he was a confidence man, for I have been approached by several of them in Chicago."

"How do you do, Mr. Conkling?" the man said. Mr. Barry said nothing.

"You are from Detroit?"

"Yes, I have been there."

"Why, don't you know me? I have met you there. Of course you are an older man than I, and I suppose you have forgotten me."

The man then told a long story of his experience in the west, asked Mr. Barry's name and said good day to him. It was a younger man who ran up to Mr. Barry on Vandewater street a few minutes later and addressed him by name, with a pleasant smile and a shake of the hand.

"You used to know my father," the second man said, "Mr. Delano of Galena."

Mr. Barry did know Mr. Delano, and had mentioned him to the man he had met in the Bowery.

"What business are you in now?" the young man asked.

Mr. Barry looked cautiously around and bending over said in a hoarse whisper: "The confidence business."

The friendly young man suddenly disappeared around the nearest corner.

Tilden and Hendricks

Cincinnati, Oct. 25.—The report from New York that Tilden will throw his influence for Governor [illegible] Hoadly for the democratic presidential nomination has caused much comment here. Persons in the confidence of Hoadly assert that what is really in the wind is a combination ticket of Tilden and Hoadly instead of the old ticket of Tilden and Hendricks. Hoadly would accept the second place on the ticket and nobody here believes that Tilden would withdraw on any account. As to the result of the recent Ohio election the best informed opinion here on the battleground is that in a presidential contest which will be free from all local and disturbing questions the republicans will carry the state by at least 20,000.

AN EXPLOSION

Rome, Oct. 25.—An explosion occurred to-day in the rooms of the royal palace at Naples at which repairs were being made. Two workmen were seriously injured and the rooms set on fire. The flames were promptly quenched. Great excitement prevailed and crowds of people flocked to the piazza of the palace. The cause of the explosion is not known.

Mr. G. A. Sala says: "America may be politically a republic, but socially and sentimentally it is the women's kingdom. From Cape Cod to the Golden Gate the American woman is queen."

In twenty-one years the people of the United States have paid in internal revenue taxes over $3,000,000,000. Of this sum Pennsylvania has paid $328,000,000, New York $656,000,000 and Illinois $500,000,000.

One sign of genuineness in the new spirit of business enterprise in the south is afforded in the fact that the scheme of bridging the Mississippi at New Orleans is being seriously contemplated. The width of the river at the point surveyed is 2400 feet. A seven-span bridge on foundations resting on creosoted and iron capped piles is proposed at an estimated cost of $18,000,000.

Flood, the California millionaire, is going to ship brown-stone all the way from New York for his new San Francisco palace. This will be an innovation in which health and comfort are to be sacrificed to style. Brick or stone houses in San Francisco are simply uninhabitable because of their coldness and dampness, but Mr. Flood believes that brown stone alone can give the solidity and dignity necessary to such a palace as he means to build. By the way, it should not be forgotten that Mr. Flood used to keep a saloon and attend his own bar. His tastes are, therefore, necessarily cultured and æsthetic.

At the California pioneers' indignation meeting in San Francisco recently, a pioneer said the trustees of the Lick estate have paid out in the last seven years $7,067 for repairs and construction, $226,000 for taxes, $74,000 for carpets and furniture for the Lick house, $37,000 to themselves in salaries and $7200 for office rent, when they could have had offices free in the Lick house. One of the trustees, who is also a pioneer, answered that the delay in settling the estate and giving California the educational institutions contemplated in James Lick's will arose from the trustees' desire to dispose of the real estate on the best possible terms. At one time the Lick house could not have been sold for $750,000, now it is valued at $1,500,000.

STORIES OF FORTUNE.

How a Water Well Became an Oil Well and an Oil Well a Water Well.

"Talk about tumbles in the price of oil," said a veteran operator on the Bradford Petroleum Exchange, "nothing like the one of the winter of 1860 has been known in the modern days of the trade. That was the winter that Jesse Heydrick put down the old farmers and mechanics well, or rather the company that he formed put it down, and that was the first company ever formed to develop the oil territory. The well came in good for about 3000 barrels a day, and half of it couldn't be taken care of but ran down the creek in a regular flood. Oil was oil then, and was worth $13 a barrel. Pittsburg was the only market and we had only one way to get oil there, and that was by running it in barges down the Allegheny river from Oil City. Of course it was necessary to have freshets to transport it in this way. The winter that Heydrick struck his well the river was frozen over, but he was bound to get some oil to Pittsburg. He succeeded in cutting a way through and ran ten flatboats down. He sold all his oil at $13 a barrel. The next day a thaw set in and in two days the river broke up. Then the boats began to run and in a short time the market was overstocked, and in less than a week oil was selling at ninety cents a barrel.

"The early days of oil production were attended by many curious incidents. One of the queerest was a streak of luck a well owner struck on the creek in 1863. He had drilled a well down to the third sand, but found nothing but water, and three days continuous pumping failed to bring anything else to the surface, so he abandoned the well in disgust. The next day a neighbor of his who was operating on an adjoining lease came over to see the disgusted well owner and informed him, with much excitement, that since the pumping of water had ceased at his well great trouble had resulted at the other well, which had yielded thirty barrels of oil a day as long as the water was being pumped, but upon the stopping of the water pumping had filled up with water and produced no more oil.

"The result was that the man who owned the producing well hired the less fortunate operator to keep his pump going, for which he paid him $40 a week. The producing well was thus restored to its former condition and things worked satisfactorily for six months, when suddenly one day the well that had been yielding nothing but water began pumping oil, and the one that had yielded oil in turn became a water well. The changed situation resulted in a lawsuit, which was won by the owner of the well that had at first yielded nothing but water."

THE YELLOW CHIEF

A Southern Brigadier's Opinion of General Custer

Correspondence Cincinnati News-Journal

The other man was a little flaxen haired knight errant who might be thought to have been singing love songs on the Rhine, was teaching a lot of Michigan lumbermen to ride like centaurs and fight like devils, and his name was General G. A. Custer. He was a dapper little tawdry headed thunderbolt who loved his saber like a nun does the Virgin Mary, and was never happy unless he was using it. He went at a fight like it was a buck woods frolic, and had an infectious kind of courage, like small pox, and all of his men caught a dangerous case of it. I knew him to my sorrow at Opequan and at Bunker Hill and Perryville, Charleston and Darkesville, and worst of all at Winchester on September 19, 1864. Some of our cavalry couldn't or wouldn't amuse him and he had to charge infantry every day or two to keep his nerves quiet. In my judgment he was the cavalry man of the war and worth more to the Union cause than all the other cavalry commanders. We learned to know him and his ways in the valley of Virginia, even knew the whistle of the two infernal little pieces of light artillery he had with his brigade, and we knew that a braver man or better soldier never lived. I wish space allowed me to say more of him, for I feel that this short notice does not do justice to the little hero. After the war I met him here and he made a practice of coming down every year. His methods in love were the same as in war, and men and women here liked him even before the bitter feelings were gone, for he was as typical a Kentuckian as could be found. He loved a horse, a woman and a mint julep, was ready for a fight or frolic, and the fellow that called him on four aces always found him with a straight flush or a navy pistol in his hand. He lived like a troubadour and died like a knight of the round table, and so long as heroism is a virtue and manly courage is commendable every American will be proud of his achievements, be he rebel or be he Yank.

New Tennesseeans.

A stranger doing the city of New York stepped into the stock exchange the other day to look at the bulls and bears. Instead of mounting to the visitors' gallery he innocently eluded the vigilance of the doorkeepers and pushed himself into the board room, where none but members are allowed. The brokers consider all such strangers proper prey for their practical jokes. The members have a name for such strangers as succeed in entering the board room. They are called "new Tennesseeans." The unfortunate stranger was soon discovered by the quick-eyed brokers. They surrounded him in large numbers and astonished him by the rapid and enormous transactions in Tennessee bonds. Millions of these bonds apparently changed hands in a very few moments, and just as the stranger thought he was in the midst of the wealthiest speculators on Wall street he suddenly found himself in uncomfortable quarters. He thought it was about time to leave. He attempted to do so. His struggles only carried him further from the entrance. He was pulled here and there, and after being pulled was summarily ejected into New street. He has seen the bulls and bears, but has no intention of visiting the Wall street zoological museum again.

The Newport Dance.

Boston Herald

In general it may be said that the dancing at Newport has become too much of a scamper. People valse as though they had a pressing engagement at the other end of the room, and tear through the polka as if they had gone mad. The valse and polka are the only dances here, and the curious old quadrille was revived for the first time last night. A Virginia reel would have been preferable. The lancers, such a favorite at Saratoga, is apparently abolished here. Everybody seems to attend the Casino dances, and yet, compared to the Saratoga hotel ones, they are all that is most exclusive; of course nobody dances with any one save persons with whom they are acquainted, and introductions are becoming more and more infrequent. Young men in society have learned to ignore, or even refuse, the requests of pushing youths who say: "My dear fellow, I know so few people here, won't you introduce me to some nice girls?"

HEREDITARY BLOOD POISON

The Hereditary Blood Poison of Scrofula develops in the delicate tissues of the brain mental weaknesses and infirmities, idiocy and insanity. It enlarges the glands of the throat, impairs the sense of smell and taste, or breaks into consuming ulcers on the neck. It destroys the lungs, or fills them with tuberculous secretions. It eats away the coating of the stomach, enlarges the liver, clogs the kidneys, creates constipation, and induces piles. The muscles it contracts and renders powerless with rheumatism, while the secretions of the joints contaminated by it cause the painful gout. It loads the perspiration with its virulent poison, setting on fire in its passage the little tubes or pores of the skin, causing the torturing disfiguration salt rheum, psoriasis, and other itching and scaly diseases which embitter life. It gathers at morbid centres into tumors, abscesses, and life-sapping ulcers. It slowly undermines the constitution and is the cause of nearly all chronic diseases.

CUTICURA RESOLVENT, the new blood purifier, is an infallible for all humors and diseases arising from impure blood, inherited humors, and contagious diseases. It absolutely kills and expels through the bowels, kidneys and pores of the skin the disease-germs which float in the blood, urine and perspiration, and thus speedily and permanently cures when all other so-called blood purifiers only prolong the disease and fail in the end.

CUTICURA, a medicinal jelly, clears off all external evidence of disease, eats away dead flesh and skin, instantly allays itchings and irritations, softens, soothes, and heals ulcers and old sores.

CUTICURA SOAP, prepared from Cuticura, is indispensable in treating Skin Diseases. For Rough, Chapped, and Greasy Skin, Blackheads, Pimples and minor Skin Blemishes, Infantile and Birth Humors, it is an exquisite SKIN BEAUTIFIER, and Toilet, Bath and Nursery Sanative.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT 26 1883

A GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPH.

In the November number of the North American Review Dr Norvin Green, president of the Western Union, takes very strong ground in opposition to a government telegraph In the first place he says that under the limited powers of the constitution the government cannot "acquire, own and operate a telegraph system for commercial uses" The power is not contained in "the postal grant," "to establish postoffices and postroads," because the telegraph is not a postal service. Referring to the decision of the supreme court in the case of the Western Union Telegraph Company vs the state of Texas, he quotes from the opinion of Chief Justice Waite to show that if the government has the power at all to establish a telegraph, it must be looked for in the clause giving congress 'power to regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the states,' for Mr Waite there defined the telegraph to be so essentially a part of commerce that 'its business is commerce itself.' But he says "the power to regulate does not mean, and never was intended to mean, the power to own the plant and carry on a commercial business between the states, and much less to conduct a local traffic within a state"

But, if it be determined that the government shall enter upon a public telegraph service Dr Green says that it has acquired the right and is under obligation to take the existing telegraph properties in the country at a valuation, as provided in the act of 1866, since nearly if not quite all the existing telegraph companies have accepted the provisions of that act. This act, he contends, is a contract which the government must recognize, and under it be compelled to take the existing properties and do the business to the exclusion of other agencies. Such has been the example of all the governments that own and operate the telegraph

The question of policy is next considered It is shown that there is no necessity for a government telegraph, because private enterprise has already provided ample facilities, exceeding those of any country having a government telegraph system. There is greater expedition and accuracy of service, and the service is cheaper

It is inexpedient because of the dangers arising from such an increase of patronage as it would give the postoffice department, and the immense advantages it would give the administration in warmly contested elections. Sooner or later, he says, there would be an espionage of telegrams In conclusion Dr. Green copies from an article which first appeared in the London Times and from a speech by John Pender, M P, both of which approved of leaving the telegraph business where it is in this country, in the management of private enterprise, and finally he quotes that "sage maxim of President Jackson. 'That country is governed best which is governed least.'"

We have already expressed our views on this subject at some length As a presentation of the other side of the case, therefore we will give the views of the late Senator Chandler of Michigan, who, more than ten years ago, wrote the following interesting letter or the subject

UNITED STATES SENATE CHAMBER }
WASHINGTON July 23, 1872 }

George H Smith Esq , Detroit, Mich

DEAR SIR With regard to the uses of the telegraph for the public for commercial, postal and military purposes, it requires no extended argument I think to show that the government has a clear right to take charge of the business reduce the rates to actual cost and in that way cause the telegraph to much more generally subserve the interests of the public The general purposes of the telegraph system and of the mail system are the same, viz To transmit intelligence from one part of the country to another The telegraph already supersedes the mail as a medium of communication to a great extent and the telegraph will continue to make still greater inroads upon the mail service, cutting off the revenues of the government from the latter service, virtually allowing the telegraph companies to get the cream of the business, and the profits too unless the government controls both systems It is only a question of time The government has, under the constitution as good a right to transmit intelligence by telegraph as it has to transmit it by mail Who would for one moment think of the proposition to have the government turn over the business of carrying the mails to private corporations? It is true that an express company will carry a letter and see that it is delivered to the proper person but they will charge 25 cents for doing exactly what the government will do for 3 cents So, with the telegraph system, when the time comes that the government has the control of the business a great reduction in rates will follow, and the people will only wonder why the government did not sooner exercise its prerogative right to take hold of and carry on the system of telegraphy in the interests of the public By cheapening the rates and popularizing the system, and as a railroad has been an improvement on the stagecoach as a means of transportation, so will the telegraph be very extensively used as a means of communication in preference to the slower method of accomplishing the same purpose through the mails,

TILDEN VS BUTLER

It is said that your uncle Tilden is on the still hunt in Massachusetts against the unspeakable Butler, foreseeing that if Butler is re-elected governor of that state he will be a most formidable candidate for the democratic presidential nomination. Butler himself does not conceal his ambition, but in his speeches throughout the state talks quite openly of the presidency, claiming that an ambition in that direction is an honorable thing His argument is that he ought not to be defeated for the governorship, just because an election might put him on the track for the presidency. But this is thought to be a good enough reason for your uncle Tilden to act upon, and therefore he is credited with a purpose to "knife" Butler, doing it, of course, in a most courteous and amiable way.

Should Butler be re-elected in Massachusetts, he would almost certainly become a formidable candidate for the presidency. And if nominated he will be a hard man to beat. All the depraved classes of the country will follow him. His principles are calculated to stir up all the very worst elements of society all over the United States. They are for "free whisky, free tobacco, and the spoils of office" Elect Butler in Massachusetts this year, and the spirit he represents will become rampant and aggressive Tilden sees that his own conservatism will be broken to pieces under the force of Butler's destructivism, and as the latter is aggressive in all things, and as he has virtually promised the spoils of office to those who support him, he will carry the younger men of the party, who instinctively incline to break the power of the old leaders If Tilden is not hedging against all this, he has clearly forgot ten his usual cunning

The facts in regard to the illiteracy of the country brought out in the discussions of the educational convention, lately held at Louisville, were of a character to awaken the most profound solicitude for the future of our free institutions The school population of the country is 15 300,000 Of these there are in the public schools 9,500,000, in private schools 509,000, 5,000,000 over 15 years of age cannot read, 6 000 000 cannot write of whom 3 220 000 are colored The total illiteracy more exactly stated, is 6 752,000 Should these illiterates act together they would hold the balance of power in a great majority of the states.

Democrats are as badly puzzled as republicans in determining the significance of the Ohio election Hendricks says it means a democratic president McDonald thinks not and Thurman says the state was carried in a scramble and nobody can tell how it will go next year

Rev. Stephen Gladstone receives more money from his rectory of Hawarden than his father does for his services as prime minister of England, which would seem to be a good argument in favor of the disestablishment of the church.

The Philadelphia Press says Major Nickerson manages to defend himself very well on all points except as to bigamy, perjury, and treachery to his faithful wife.

THE MINING DEBRIS CASE

Perhaps a cause of greater importance than the mining debris case which has just been heard by Judges Sawyer and Deady sitting in the United States circuit court at San Francisco, was never brought before a court on the Pacific coast It involves the existence of the placer mining business of northern California on the one hand and of an important farming business in the same region on the other It is a contest for life between two great interests which cannot both survive In each there is an enormous investment of capital, each produces great profits both to individuals and to the state, and each gives employment to some thousands of people The equities of this contest have been the subject of no end of controversy, particularly during the past three or four years, but not till recently has the law been appealed to

The debris question is about this For several years various mining companies, whose aggregate investment in machinery, etc. it is claimed is upwards of a hundred million dollars (though the assessment says only one-fourth of this amount) have been engaged in mining the auriferous deposits which abound on the west slope of the Sierra Nevada mountains The placer process is employed, the vast hillsides first being broken and loosened by powerful blasts The water used in washing down these banks is taken from various small rivers of that locality, and having fulfilled its mission, it returns to their channels laden with the debris of the disrupted mountain sides The beds of these rivers all of which, after a short independent existence, fall into the Sacramento, have been gorged with sediment and raised far above their natural levels The channel of the Sacramento, too, has been lifted far above its original level and for miles north of Marysville and near the mining district it runs a shallow course along the summit of a ridge formed, and still forming of detritus All the lower lands along the upper Sacramento have been covered with sand, mud and gravel, and made barren by this debris, and the navigation of the river itself has been ruined During stages of flood the debris-charged water swashes over its elevated banks and spreads its burden over the fruitful valleys Forty thousand acres of fine agricultural and dairy land have already been irreclaimably buried, and the damage is still going on.

If placer mining in northern California continues the whole valley of the upper Sacramento river will, in time, be overwhelmed and ruined The debris suit is brought by Edwards Woodruff, a land owner in the upper Sacramento valley and the owner of city property in Marysville, against the North Bloomfield Gravel Mining Company and others, to enjoin the defendants from putting their debris in the river It is claimed by the defendants that they have the right, under the United States laws and under the laws of California, and besides, a prescriptive right, to continue their operations The case has been the subject of a long and careful hearing in which both sides of this interesting question were elaborately set forth Judges Sawyer and Deady have not yet rendered their decision

It seems to be supposed by many prohibitionists that the only way to force their doctrine is to enact constitutional amendments for the purpose It has in fact, become the fashion to talk of constitutional amendments as the sole remedy for the evils of the liquor traffic Prohibition may however, be enacted by legislative statute as well as by constitutional amendment, and it will be fully as effective—in fact it may be more so, since after the amendment is secured statutes will be required for its enforcement If the people of Oregon desire prohibition their legislature at the very next session may enact it There is no need to wait till the constitution can be amended It will take years to reach the result in this way and then it will be no better than a statute nor indeed so good If there is a public sentiment which will carry an amendment it can force the enactment of a law by the legislature and then prevent its repeal

One direction in which the attention of our farmers can be turned with profit is the multiplication of small flocks of sheep A writer says "It is time we were getting rid of the notion that raising cattle and sheep in large herds is the only way" Small farms and small flocks pay better The Texas Wool Grower says "Fifty sheep will do more towards furnishing a regular increase than any other kind of stock." Too few of our farmers have flocks of sheep The expense of a small flock is but little, and the income from it may be larger than from any other equal investment. Besides, the sheep return to the ground in manure, evenly distributed, a full profit on their keep

The well known tendency of the Chinese to economize has again been exemplified. The correspondence between China and San Francisco has undergone a noticeable decrease within the past few months, and investigation has just produced the cause. The steamer City of Tokio was being searched for contraband articles upon her arrival recently, and the custom officers discovered between three and four thousand unstamped letters. The thrifty Mongolians had concluded to save the postage, and several self constituted Chinese postal agents had them concealed for future delivery

The Toronto Mail, the leading tory organ of Canada says that the declaration of Premier Smith of British Columbia that the Pacific states would be annexed some day to his dominion was "a very proper remark," even in a speech delivered to citizens of the United States at their table. The editor of the Mail would be an interesting subject for phrenological study Like the man who once tried to draw Charles Lamb into conversation he doubtless thinks that Milton was an able writer

Lord Coleridge, at the New York banquet, suggested that there ought to be in this country a sort of national pleading park, like the Yellowstone, "where all the absque hoc, surrebutters and other weird matters of that kind might be preserved to gratify future curiosity" The Utica Herald hopes that this gentle bit of sarcasm will not be lost upon the American bench and bar.

The November elections occur one week from next Tuesday Massachusetts Maryland and Minnesota elect a governor and other state officers; New Jersey chooses a governor, New York Pennsylvania and Nebraska elect certain state officers, while the states mentioned, except Nebraska, together with Virginia and Mississippi, vote for members of the legislature

The Standard informs us that the work of Senator Slater on the tariff bill alone last session was worth fully half a million dollars to the northwest." This probably refers to the part he took in securing the reduction of the tariff on wool, against which the democrats of eastern Oregon and Ohio kicked so vigorously

A New Orleans paper urges the removal of filth from the streets because it makes an unpleasant impression on strangers It is not so much the dirt in the streets, as the reflection that the citizens are ordinarily contented to have it there, that makes an unpleasant impression on strangers

Mrs Stowe, the San Francisco dress reformer says that 'before long women will display their legs as fearlessly as they now do their arms This announcement will be received with pleasure by the mud turtle brigade

The Corean ambassadors, as well as Lord Coleridge, have been especially impressed by the beauty of American women

A NOVEL STYLE OF OVERCOAT.

If any one wants to continue saving the expense of an overcoat and at the same time escape rheumatism, such weather as this he must invest 50 cents in a bottle of St Jacobs Oil and lather himself with it right well.

RAILWAY TIME STANDARDS

The different standards of time adopted by different railroads in the same state or region of country, and even by those roads centering in the same city, are confusing to travelers and puzzling to everybody It is a very difficult matter to arrange a series of standards that will not be open to some objections but not a hard task to very greatly improve upon the loose and unsatisfactory plan of permitting each road to fix its own standard The railway officials having this matter in charge have, after much deliberation, agreed upon four standards covering the whole country and efforts are now being made to have them adopted on the various roads The managers of fifty-two thousand miles of road have sanctioned the change and this ought to be sufficient to secure its adoption by all of them

Different standards are in use upon lines under the same control For example there have been four different standards on the lines controlled by the Pennsylvania company Part of the system has been run by New York time and parts by the Philadelphia, Columbus and Indianapolis standards Under the new system all the roads or as many as possible within certain meridians are to be run by the same standard The standards agreed upon cover four grand divisions though neither is so large as to make a difference of more than half an hour from the local time The eastern division takes the seventy fifth meridian time as its standard, which is sixteen minutes slower than Boston time four minutes slower than New York, one minute faster than Philadelphia and twenty minutes faster than Pittsburg time The ninetieth meridian will be the central standard, one hour slower than eastern time and nine minutes slower than Chicago time It will govern all roads bounded by and including Ohio, Kansas, Louisiana and Manitoba The one hundred and fifth meridian one hour later, will be the Rocky mountain standard, and the one hundred and twentieth meridian, three hours slower than eastern time, will be the Pacific standard

Throughout New England the new system has been adopted, and it has also been put in force on the Pennsylvania railroad and its branches It is understood, of course that it will make no difference on the local time tables of the several roads and it is intended mainly to facilitate the calculation and keeping in mind of the differences between the respective standards

Inspiration for Joaquin

Minneapolis Tribune Joaquin Miller got a new step father aged 22 the other day, and some appropriate poetry may be expected

No exaggerated or fictitious certificates but solid facts, testify the marvelous cures of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Advertisements such as "Wants," "Help Wanted" "To Let" "For Sale" etc, will be inserted for ten cents per line first insertion five cents per line thereafter No insertion less than twenty five cents These rates apply to cash customers only

Deaths, Marriages and Births fifty cents each Resolutions of Condolence ten cents per line All transient advertising payable in advance

GONE TO REST.—Last evening at about 8 o'clock Miss Emma E. Millard died at her mother's residence in this city. For some weeks she had been confined to her bed, and at one time it was thought a favorable change had taken place. It was but for a brief time, however, and again the sufferer grew worse, until death came to her relief. Miss Millard had a large circle of friends who will sincerely mourn her loss. Her ever genial countenance and kindly ways will be missed among the many who knew her. An incident in connection with the death of this estimable woman was the fact that the last spark of life fled upon the thirty-fifth anniversary of her birthday.

GUARDIAN APPOINTED.—Mary Meagher, a girl of 14 years who works in Walling's printing establishment, has succeeded in having her brother Philip appointed by the county court as her legal guardian, thus removing her from her mother's control. Mrs. Meagher is a woman of ungovernable temper, and has recently maltreated her daughter until the latter found it necessary to take the above steps. The mother became so excited at this as to be unfit to take care of herself, and a certificate of an authorized physician having been obtained she was removed to the insane asylum, where it is hoped a few weeks of quiet may restore her to her right mind.

MORE RAILROAD OFFICIALS.—Completion of the Northern Pacific has brought to Portland a small army of its men representing various eastern and western lines. The latest arrival is Mr. Louis Blankenhorn, general agent of the freight department of the Chicago Milwaukee and St. Paul road, who has established an office and will be permanently located here. Believing that the freight interests of the coast demand such attention, the company sent Mr. Blankenhorn as its special representative. He was formerly division freight agent of the company, and is familiar with Pacific coast business and methods of handling it.

EN ROUTE HOME.—A dispatch was received here from T. J. Nelson, dated at Bangor, Maine, yesterday, stating that he would start for home that evening, in company with Captain John Harlow and family. Captain Harlow is very low. Mr. Nelson went east some time since to assist in bringing him home. The captain was too sick to start for some days and when he got better his daughter was taken sick, which again delayed them.

THROUGH PASSENGERS.—Left St. Paul Wednesday night to arrive here Sunday: C. Colman and wife, to San Francisco; O. N. Norton, to Portland; M. D. Maddux and wife, to Seattle; also five other first-class passengers, two second-class and eighty emigrants. Twenty-five emigrants left here yesterday for St. Paul.

CALL FOR TELEGRAMS.—There remain uncalled for in the office of the Western Union Telegraph Company in this city dispatches for the following named persons: Miss H. J. Wetherbee, J. H. Kunzie, care J. R. Foster, D. R. Meneey, H. G. Field, E. Hauck, R. Patrick, J. E. Perry, H. Renwalder, Ernest Goebee.

PIGEON PIE.—Yesterday morning Hong Yong Lame received from San Francisco a crate containing 100 live pigeons, to be sacrificed in a few days to the requirements of a pigeon pie, to be used in the celebration of a Chinese festival.

It is said that a thrifty farmer of Yamhill county mortgaged his farm for $2800, and bet every cent on Martin, the losing man in the foot race with Kittleman.

Mr. G. B. Ames will lecture on commercial law to the students of Columbia commercial college this (Friday) evening. Former students are cordially invited.

Abe Blumenthal, who lately disposed of his business on Front street, has leased the premises adjoining J. Koen's, on First street, and will reopen there on an extensive scale.

Henry Ileansich, indicted for an assault with a hatchet, and Frank Falman, for robbery, were arraigned yesterday in the state circuit court, and given one day to plead.

Deputy Sheriff Powell took Jean Olliver, the Sellwood thief, and D. Grady, the pickpocket, to Salem, where they will proceed at once to serve out their respective terms in the penitentiary.

It is contrary to the laws of Washington territory to race horses with Indians, even for fun. The fine for this offense is not less than $50 nor more than $500, and six months' imprisonment, or both.

John Commute, arrested for the larceny of a horse, proved to the satisfaction of Justice White that he had simply taken up the animal when it was loose in the street, and had no intention of keeping it. He was therefore released from custody and the horse returned to its owner.

The large number of hacks and busses which collect at the corner of Morrison and Fourth street every afternoon, to meet the west side train, which stops there, gives that point quite a lively aspect. The presence of a policeman has also become necessary there to keep the crowd in order.

The work of driving piles for a foundation at the corner of Front and Morrison streets is progressing favorably. By from fifty to seventy-five blows of the hammer the piles are driven down a depth of eighteen to twenty feet, where they strike a bottom so hard that the hammer rebounds a foot or more.

THE BAKER CITY LINE.

Boise City Statesman, October 20.

We learn from Mr. G. W. Hunt that the O. R. & N. Company are pushing operations on the Baker City branch with an energy which promises a completion of the road at as early a date as possible. There is a good deal of heavy work on the east flank of the Blue mountains, but it is thought that the rails will be laid to Hilgard, [illegible] by the first of December. The grading is [illegible] finished through the Grande Ronde valley. Mr. Hunt's contract commences in front of the town of Union in the edge of the foothills and extends eastward toward Powder river valley. The grade in the hill section is about [illegible] feet to the mile. Hunt has about fifty teams at work, with a force of nearly one hundred men. [illegible] are at work between Hunt's section and Burnt river. The railroad will pass directly through Baker City, but leaves Union about two miles distant to the north. Mr. Hunt thinks that Island City will be the most favored point in the Grande Ronde valley.

PERSONAL.

E. E. McKinney of Turner is in the city.

HOLLADAY AGAINST HOLLADAY.

BEN H. TO COMMENCE SUIT AGAINST JOE H. FOR HIS PROPERTY.

A Transaction Running Back Several Years, Familiar to Old Residents—A Receiver to be Asked For.

It is reported on good authority that Ben Holladay, now on a visit to this city, will begin suit within a few days in the state circuit court against his brother, Joe Holladay, for the recovery of the former's property located in and about Portland. To explain Joe's tenure it is necessary to state the case. When Ben was at the zenith of his short and brilliant career in the Pacific northwest, he gave to Joe, who was poor, without consideration, the privilege of the bars on all the Oregon Steamship Company's steamers plying between Portland and San Francisco. The liquor traffic was profitable and at twenty-five cents a drink Joe, who was then as economical as now, managed to save up many thousands of dollars. About seven years ago, when things began to tighten around Ben and his wealth was taking wings, he borrowed from Joe $160,000, and deeded to his brother all his property in Oregon, with the stipulation that it should be returned to him whenever the debt was paid. At the time of the transfer the property was valued in the neighborhood of $400,000. Present value of the same possessions is nearly if not quite $2,000,000. It embraces a controlling interest in the Willamette Steam Mills Lumbering and Manufacturing Company, familiarly known as Weidler's mill; in the Oregon Transfer Company, in the Portland Street Railway Company, the Oregon Real Estate Association, a number of valuable residence blocks in East Portland, the Seaside house and grounds at Clatsop beach, several pieces of business property in Portland, and large tracts of farming land in Yamhill and Washington counties.

The written stipulation that the property should be deeded back to Ben upon payment of the debt was in the custody of a Mr. Hampton, Ben's agent, who died a few years ago. Among his effects the stipulation could not be found. What became of it is not known. However, the lawyer who drew up the document and witnessed its signature, is still living here.

It is said that Ben has been trying for the last ten days to get a settlement out of Joe and recover the property without a suit, but report says that Joe demands fabulous sums for his services as "manager" during the period the property was in his possession. The amount of Ben's indebtedness to Joe, including interest, is understood to be about $300,000. Probably the first step in the legal proceedings will be an application to Judge Stott for the appointment of a receiver, there being a daily income from a considerable part of the property.

Joe claims that Ben is trying to rob him of his legal and rightful possessions.

NOTICE TO MARINERS.

Captain George T. Davis, inspector of the Thirteenth lighthouse district, makes public the following important information for mariners:

A first-class can buoy, black and white perpendicular stripes, has been placed on the one and three-fourths (1¾) miles N. N. W., half W. from the whistling buoy, south channel, Columbia river, in thirteen and one-half fathoms, at low water, for a fair way buoy. From this buoy the bar buoy, south channel, bears N. N. The outside bar buoy (lately carried away) has been replaced.

SALEM NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, Oct. 25.

Sheriff Twombly of Clatsop county is in the city on official business.

The party at Reed's opera house last evening was very well attended and proved an enjoyable affair.

The Salem firemen were invited by the Albany fire department to participate in their blowout last evening.

Sedgwick Post No. 10, G. A. R., of this city, are making extensive arrangements for their camp fire, which will be kindled on Tuesday evening next.

The Good Templars of this city will participate in a banquet at their hall on Saturday evening next. Rev. Thos. B. Van Scoy has consented to deliver the address.

The appearances this morning indicate that the rainy season has set in, and the trustees and officers of the insane asylum are congratulating themselves upon having the patients removed during the continuance of the pleasant weather.

Augustus Giesy, one of the newly appointed attendants at the insane asylum, has already resigned, the duties imposed being such as to demand his entire attention, precluding the possibility of his pursuing the study of law, as he had anticipated. Judd Catterlen was at once appointed to fill the vacancy.

There has been a decided change of base among the clerks of Salem. Mr. Regan has resigned his position with J. J. Dalrymple, and accepted one with Caldwell, Becker & Licke. Will Woodworth, formerly with A. B. Crossman, takes Mr. Regan's place at Dalrymple's, and E. C. Small, well and favorably known in our midst, will deal out paper collars, etc., at Mr. Crossman's clothing emporium.

A NEW AVIATOR.

How an Ingenious Yankee Proposes to Navigate the Upper Air.

A Bridgeport, Conn., telegram to the New York World says: Charles F. Ritchel of this city has invented a ship designed to sail through the air. Mr. Ritchel claims that it can be made to rise or fall as desired without throwing over the ballast or losing gas, as in balloons, and will also float right side up. It is cylindrical in form, and the ends are cut off square. To this great cylinder, which is intended to float in the air in a horizontal position, is attached by ropes the framework of the machine. There is no rudder, Mr. Ritchel having found that with the present progress of invention it is impossible to steer an air ship with any degree of accuracy and certainty. Under the floor, or network, as it might more properly be called, is a series of canvas shutters on iron frames, lapping one over the other when closed, thus making a permanent, air resisting floor.

This latter feature is one of the principal features of Mr. Ritchel's invention. He says that the tendency of a balloon, when in mid air, is to move either up or down from one stratum to another with ever increasing velocity. These movements have been checked hitherto by ballast throwing and by loosing of the gas. He proposes to remedy this by the floor shutters, and by the means of a canvas screw propeller rigged below this floor, and geared to several cranks which may be driven by men from the network of the basket above. The propeller worked one way tends to push the balloon or ship upward, and by being reversed draws it toward the earth again. When an ascent is about to be made the balloon is cut loose from the earth, the shutters are opened so as to afford no resistance to the air as the machine rises upward, and, if necessary, the screw propeller is worked to aid in fanning the machine toward the clouds. After the desired altitude is reached the screw is stopped, and the voyage proper commences. The descent can be made in the same way.

Another new feature which Mr. Ritchel has introduced in ballooning is a new style of cloth for balloon covering—a light and very strong substance, which rain will not affect in either cold or hot weather. It is so strong that it cannot be torn with the hand, and, though very thin, is almost totally impervious to light. He will soon publish an illustrated description and plans of the new ship.

Wealth of New York Papers.

The following table shows the assessed valuation of the real estate owned by the leading newspapers of New York city and the tax on the same paid by each:

	Assessment.	Tax.
Herald	$[illegible]	$16 306
Times	[illegible]	6,687
Tribune	500,000	11,450
Evening Post	450,000	10,304
Sun	110,000	2,519
Commercial Advertiser	140,000	3,206
Staats-Zeitung (Ottendorfer)	315,000	7,213

The statement does not give a full idea of the capital invested in these establishments, since it only includes the real estate at 60 per cent. valuation.

THE MECHANICS' FAIR.

In spite of the storm, there was a large attendance at the fair last evening. Only two more nights remain of the season, and the pavilion will doubtless be jammed both to-night and to-morrow night.

THE PHOTOGRAPHIC

Display in the pavilion made by Frank G. Abell shows a proficiency in that art rarely attained. The superiority of his work over local and San Francisco artists is attested by the great amount of work he does for visiting San Franciscans and also for eastern people.

F. S. CHADBOURNE & CO.

Are receiving large orders for the Burr folding bed which has been attracting so much attention at the fair from all classes of people. At their store, corner of First and Yamhill streets, they carry one of the largest stocks in Portland. They keep up with all the latest improvements and new designs in parlor, dining and bed room furniture, and sell at low prices.

A. G. WALLING,

The leading lithographer of Portland, exhibits work at the pavilion which cannot be equaled on this coast, or excelled in any eastern city of America.

G. SHINDLER & CO'S.

Exhibit of wall paper excels anything that could have been done by any other dealer in Portland. At their establishment, 166 First street, they carry an immense stock for purchasers to select from, and as to prices, they are noted for selling very low.

ANDY ROBERTS,

The genial, whole-souled merchant, corner of First and Alder streets, represents the clothing interests at the fair for the northwest. His stock is always kept right up to the limit of fashion, and the quality of his goods is beyond question. In fact, Mr. Roberts is a man of honor and will not sell an inferior article to any one. The more men of this character Portland has the better for the commonwealth.

HOMŒPATHIC PHARMACY.

The exhibit of Paul J. A. Semler & Co. still attracts much attention. Their booth is located in the main hall, near the Second street entrance to the building, and presents one of the finest effects in that part of the pavilion. As representing a complete stock, it is not surpassed in any other exhibit. It is also the only display in the fair of homœpathic medicines. This firm represent this line of medicines more fully than any other establishment here, being in fact the only house which make a specialty of them. They also carry a complete assortment of family homœpathic medicinal cases and books, a line of the best dietetic preparations; also a full stock of druggists' fancy goods and sundries, all of which they sell at lower rates than rule at any other establishment.

THE NORTH PACIFIC MANUFACTURING CO.'S

Exhibit of fine carriages still interests every one who enters the pavilion. The state may feel proud at having such an institution located within her borders. The elegant finish of all their work is the subject of general remark, while their substantiality and choice of excellent material used in construction is patent to every observer. The question of success of this company, if never before, has been decided since the opening of the fair. Their display has shown the general public the character of work they are doing and orders are coming in rapidly. We are glad to see this, for they deserve the greatest success.

J. G. CARSON,

Who makes such a fine exhibit of sash, doors, blinds, window glass and wood finishing work, can congratulate himself upon having as interesting an exhibit as there is in the fair. He has been eminently successful in his business, which has of late years grown to very large proportions. This has been accomplished by always keeping faith with everybody, selling only the best goods and charging the lowest prices.

THE CRANDALL SPRING BED LOUNGE

Is considered the best ever displayed at the fair. It is exhibited at the booth of the Pacific Spring and Mattress Company. Don't fail to see it.

GARDNER BROS.'

Display of pianos and organs deserves special mention. At their store on First street, between Morrison and Yamhill, they have a very large stock to select from. They carry no less than eleven different makes of organs.

THE MITCHELL WAGON

Still claims much of the attention of all interested in wagoning. The farmers especially declare it the best wagon for general farm use ever made.

JOHN B. GARRISON

Will have to enlarge his sewing machine store again if he continues to increase his popularity with the ladies. They all say the sewing machines exhibited at his tastily fitted booth in the pavilion are the lightest running and best machines in the market.

D. W. PRENTICE,

Who exhibits such an excellent display of pianos, has fitted his booth in a more elegant style than any exhibitor in the pavilion. He deserves credit for this. His Prentice piano, his own make, is coming into general favor. It combines many points of excellence which other makes lack, and is without doubt one of the best instruments in the market.

THE ELEGANT MANTELS

Exhibited at the pavilion by Foster & Robertson are much talked of. They make a handsome appearance, and combined with the beautiful display of gas fixtures, etc., also exhibited by this firm, may be considered the leading exhibit of the fair. These articles, although so handsome and elegant, are not at all high in price, and may be added to the homes of many in moderate circumstances.

RUSSELL & CO.'S

Exhibit of the Massillon thresher and portable saw-mill machinery will long be remembered by the farmers and lumbermen of the northwest. We heard a saw-mill man say a day or two ago that their saw-mill machinery would supersede all other makes on the coast.

J. G. TURNER

Still does a large business at the pavilion in candies and soda water, all of which goes to prove that the Postoffice Candy Store is the best place to buy candies and things.

J. N. ROBBINS & SONS

Will sell an immense number of their elegant pianos and organs the coming season, judging from the remarks we hear from every quarter. It must be a satisfaction to them to know that they have such good instruments to offer in the market.

GUMP & CO.

Have added some very beautiful statuary to their exhibit. In this as well as in all else, they excel.

THE OREGON MILLING COMPANY

Have, as we predicted, received the first prize for their flour. Now, who's ahead?

GOVERNOR NEWELL WILL NOT RESIGN.

OLYMPIA, Oct. 24, 1883.

WASHINGTON LEGISLATURE.

HOUSE.

OLYMPIA, Oct. 22, 1883.

Mr. Kuhn in the chair.

Petitions received to exempt church property from taxation.

H. B. 40, to regulate the sale of intoxicating drinks in Washington territory. The first time the bill appeared the members refused to hear it read more than once. To-day it came up in regular order, but the act is such a strong one that the weaker brothers were afraid to see it go too far, and one of the honorable gentlemen (Kincaid) moved to postpone indefinitely. This caused quite a commotion, and a little wrangle as to parliamentary usage, which was satisfactorily quelled by a motion to refer to committee on judiciary, which was carried, and the bill was ordered printed.

The resolution relative to one of the body having violated the rules was taken up, and the gentleman having offered a sufficient explanation, on motion the whole matter was expunged from the record, Stilzel voting "no," his objection being strictly parliamentary.

H. B. 41 is an act authorizing the school directors of school district No. 1, Whitman county, to mortgage certain real estate. Referred to committee on judiciary.

H. B. 42, Miles, fixing the compensation of county auditor of Lewis county at $130 per annum, and H. B. 43, fixing the compensation of treasurer of same county. Referred to the committee on counties.

H. B. 44, to amend sections 2148, 2150 and 2161, relating to prosecuting attorneys in second judicial district. Referred to the committee on judiciary.

Goodell presented H. M. 8, praying for appropriation of $50,000 for improvement of Gray's harbor and Chehalis river. Owing to the fact that a line of railroad is about to be built between this city and Gray's harbor, the object of the memorial is decidedly of importance, and its general effect for good cannot be overestimated. The memorial was referred to the committee on federal relations.

Shaw introduced H. M. 9, praying for improvement of the Columbia river between the mouth of the Willamette and the Lower Cascades; also, H. M. 10, praying for certain rights and privileges to be granted to H. L. Pittock, Wm. McFall and D. H. Stearns, and H. M. 11, praying for reinstatement of F. H. Sparling as cadet in the naval academy. All of these memorials were referred to appropriate committees.

C. B. repealing act relative to marks and brands, and H. B. 23, relative to election of county commissioners, were both tabled subject to call of the house.

COUNCIL.

Power presented a petition, signed by seventy citizens of Fidalgo island, for the protection of deer on said island.

Houghton presented a petition, signed by 146 citizens of Tacoma, praying that church property may be exempt from taxation.

Smith presented a petition, signed by 166 women of Clarke county, asking for female suffrage. Referred to committee on elections.

Houghton introduced C. B. 37 to amend chapter 11 of the code; to prevent land owners from committing acts to spite their neighbors. Referred.

The same gentleman introduced C. B. 38, to amend section 2448 of the code, relative to water supplies. Referred.

H. B. 12, relative to distribution of the code, was then taken up and killed.

C. B. 32, to repeal an act relative to election of officers in newly-organized counties. Passed.

H. B. 23, relating to ferries, was lost.

The time of the council was taken up during the afternoon in discussing the school law in committee of the whole, with Mr. Caton in the chair. Adjourned to Thursday.

RACES.

On Saturday afternoon a trotting and foot race took place at the fair grounds, the horse race being won by Frank McClain's bay, and the foot race for $25 being won by Lonnie Knighton. I learn that the latter has accepted a challenge issued by Bishop of Jefferson county, the champion runner on that part of the Sound. It is likely that Knighton will give him a hard tussel for the stakes.

DIED.

On the 18th inst., in this city, Frank A. Hill, late of Dayton, Oregon. The remains of the deceased were escorted to the train by the members of Olympia and Western lodges, I. O. O. F., of which order he was a member, and were taken to Oregon for burial.

NOTES.

Mr. Hewitt, who was shot by an unknown assailant on Saturday, is resting about as easy as can be expected. The assassin has not yet been discovered, although the sheriff and his deputies are doing their best to effect his capture.

RESTORING LANDS TO THE PUBLIC DOMAIN.

OLYMPIA, Oct. 24.

Mr. Landrum of Klickitat county introduced in the house, some days since, the following memorial in relation to restoring railroad lands to the public domain:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress Assembled: Your memorialists, the legislative assembly of the territory of Washington, do hereby respectfully represent that,

WHEREAS, From the town of Ainsworth to Puget sound, in the territory of Washington, there was set aside and withdrawn from the public domain, by your honorable bodies, vast areas of land, for the purpose of donating the same to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company;

WHEREAS, This donation by you was conditioned upon the building and operating of a railroad, within a given number of years, through said land, by the said Northern Pacific Railroad Company;

WHEREAS, The time allowed the Northern Pacific Railroad Company by said land grant act and by the subsequent acts granting said company further time expired some years ago, and the railroad, both from Ainsworth over the Cascade mountains to Puget sound, and Ainsworth down the north bank of the Columbia river to Portland, Oregon, remains unbuilt;

WHEREAS, The continuation of withholding this large area of country from settlement and improvement by the immigrant, in the interest of the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, a monopoly whose freight and passenger rates in our territory are most extortionate, is gravely retarding the growth and prosperity of Washington territory;

Therefore, We hereby pray your honorable bodies that you do, at your earliest opportunity, have said withdrawn lands opened up to the immigrant as public lands.

A GRAND

Gas Balloon Ascension.

FREE TO ALL.

BY PROF. P. A. VAN TASSEL,

—IN HIS—

MAMMOTH AIR SHIP "CITY OF SALT LAKE,"

Given by and under the auspices of

E. Wineburgh & Co.,

DRY GOODS MERCHANTS OF 126 FIRST ST.,

Who have engaged the aeronaut, Prof. P. A. Van Tassel, at an enormous expense, who on this occasion will be accompanied by representatives of the press. This new mammoth gas balloon has a capacity of thirty thousand feet of gas, and is capable of carrying two thirds of a ton. The ascension will take place

ON TUESDAY, OCT. 30th, at 2:30 P. M.,

FROM CIRCUS GROUNDS, A and Pine and Fourth and Fifth streets. Tickets of admission be had free of charge, unconditionally, by making application at

Wineburgh's Mammoth Bazaar,

126 First St., near Washington St.

The grounds will be fenced in and have a seating capacity for 10,000 people. No one will be admitted without a ticket. Visitors to the city and their families must not fail to procure a ticket to witness the thrilling sensation as the aeronaut and his passengers take their places in the frail basket for the [illegible] ascent among the clouds. A balloon ascension invariably leaves a deep and lasting impression on the mind. As an achievement of science it is one of the grandest ever witnessed, exhibiting man's dominion over the very air we breathe.

THE BIG STORE

LOADED

From Basement to Roof.

EVERY FLOOR PACKED WITH

DRY GOODS, FANCY GOODS, CLOTHING, HATS, SHOES AND FURNISHING GOODS,

Bought at ridiculously low prices, and will be sold without any regard to values. We made a big stir among dealers last season at the bargains we offered, but this season regular prices will create more excitement than any slaughter sale ever inaugurated by us. We want everybody to come and see how our store is packed with goods. We want everybody to take advantage of the unusual values we offer. It is customary with all dealers to put on the profits at the beginning of the season, but we shall start in with a big boom and "let her go" with a rush, depending on our big trade with small margins to see us safely through. Below we give some prices and we want you to read them. We know you will be benefited thereby. And don't forget that because we name low prices we have not the finest and best made goods to be found on earth. Come and see us this week.

MEN'S CLOTHING.

For $5 and $6 we will sell you a good heavy Union Cassimere Suit in several very desirable patterns. Our assortment of $7, $7 50 and $8 Suits is endless, and every one of them representing more value than ever offered before. $9 and $10 gets a good, substantial All-Wool Cassimere Suit, plain or fancy styles, every one of them worth $5 per suit more money. Thousands upon thousands All-Wool Suits, made from Sawyers, Harris and Rock Cassimeres, for $12 and $15, sold last season for $20 and $25, and cost from $5 to $8 more to manufacture than the price we get for them. We have an immense assortment of $20 Suits, made and cut by Custom Tailors and Cutters during the dull season. An elegant line of Double-Breasted Frock Suits for dress and evening wear.

Our line of FALL OVERCOATS embraces every style of our own and Eastern make, from a $5 coat to the finest satin.

GENTS' FURNISHING GOODS.

In this department, as in all others, we commence the season with goods marked at such low prices that the figures will astonish other dealers, and consequently surprise our customers when they examine the value we are offering in every article on sale in our Gents' Furnishing House.

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 26, 1883.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

THURSDAY, Oct. 25.

The day has been a most disagreeable one as regards weather; a high wind with cold showers prevailing. Trade necessarily suffers in consequence. For the week no complaint is heard, although a lessened business as compared with previous weeks is reported. There has been nothing of special importance, everything moving steadily along. Steamship receipts show a decided falling off, while rail receipts are about the same as last week.

As regards stocks there has been a steady, healthy feeling with marked rise. Closing prices last Thursday were: O. R. & N. 106, bonds 106; N. P. 25¾, preferred 59⅛; Trans. 38¾; Or. Imp. 70, bonds 92½. Each day has witnessed an advance more or less marked, except in Or. Imp. The issue of new second mortgage bonds by the N. P. meets with some opposition in New York and the law has been resorted to for a way to prevent the issue. It is safe to say, however, that the bonds will be issued and the road's finances eased in consequence. The opposition to the issue is looked upon as a bear movement. Bruin has of late received a sudden and apparently strong blow. That he would die hard was certain. A comparison of quotations given above with those of to-day will show what advances have been established.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 24 hours: 5693 ctls wheat, 2510 bbls flour, [illegible] ctls oats, 341 ctls bran, 117 ctls millstuff, 77 sks potatoes, 975 lbs wool, 1495 lbs hides, 34 bxs eggs, 20,386 lbs hops, 16 bxs fruit, 128 pkgs butter. Also 13,838 ctls wheat, 7110 lbs wool, 1320 lbs hides, 400 sks flax seed from the eastern section. Hop receipts include 14,086 lbs for Waterville, New York and 12,300 to a local brewer.

Receipts for the past seven days have been: 43,097 ctls wheat, 10,816 bbls flour, 2885 ctls oats, 1684 ctls bran, 919 ctls millstuff, 2072 ctls barley, 298 sks potatoes, 49,937 lbs wool, 11,308 lbs hides 127,932 lbs hops, 316 pkgs butter, 241 pkgs eggs, 39 bls hay, 1159 bxs fruit, 800 bbls lime from the valley and Sound sections; also, 88,218 ctls wheat, 3262 bbls flour, 209 ctls millstuff, 21,722 lbs wool, 23,110 lbs hides, 13,764 lbs hops, 1 bx butter, 490 sks flaxseed, 2 bxs fruit, from the eastern section.

Receipts by all lines of transportation since August 1, as compared with like time last year, have been:

	1883.	1882.
Wheat—Centals	97[illegible]381	967,881
Flour—Barrels	7[illegible],226	100,477
Oats—Centals	24,832	33,750
Bran—Centals	7,114	13,460
Millstuff—Centals	1,807	16,420
Barley—Centals	[illegible]672	2,657
Potatoes—Sacks	3,600	4,425
Wool—Pounds	1,672,919	1,224,[illegible]80
Hides—Pounds	257,034	289,[illegible]4
Hops—Pounds	39,436	374,[illegible]40

A comparison of receipts will show that 1,196,[illegible] centals of wheat, and flour reduced to wheat, have been received as against 1,269,[illegible] centals for last season, or a falling off of only 73,[illegible] centals. This year our clearances to date have been [illegible] 5 centals, and last year 419,6[illegible] centals. It will be seen that exports as against receipts compare about the same. The month's showing will not be as large as had been expected, because vessels are slow in moving.

Rail receipts since last reported have been 2 cs extract, 275 cs can goods, 501 sks corn, 50 bxs soap, 2 bxs bacon, 350 cs 100 lbs 26 bbls & 27 firkins butter, 200 kits 20 hf mackerel, 90 kgs 1 cs 70 tcs lard, 10 cs bacon, 20 cs hams, 46 bbls linseed oil, 1 cs cigars, 28 pkgs tobacco, 340 kgs nails, 575 sks seed, 35 bbls bottled beer.

FREIGHTS—Arrivals for a week have been 3108 tons under engagement and 4658 disengaged. Of the latter 796 has since been chartered. There are now in port disengaged 3754 tons iron and 13,304 wood. The only spot transaction to report is the Clan Ferguson, iron, 799 tons, by the Salem Flouring Mills Company, at terms held private, but quotable 47s 6d U. K. A larger iron vessel was offering at this rate, but has found no taker as yet. For wood a quotation is difficult, neglected when iron can be had. The disengaged list will shortly be added to by expected arrivals. The current rate at San Francisco for wood is 32s 6d direct. Vessels in berth are slow filling up, but there is no necessity for haste. Others to come have cargoes on wharf, but cannot be got in readiness for cargo this month. The outlook for freights may be said to be unchanged, as it has not improved and has been far from cheering for some time. Business along the street say a vessel is wanted for Hong Kong and one for lumber.

WHEAT—Receipts promised large early in the week, but have since fallen off to about the old figures. While operators still have considerable lots of wheat in the interior to come forward, and which they would like to have at hand now, there is less complaint as to transportation. Snake river farmers complain bitterly that they cannot market their wheat because it cannot be sent out of the section. Low water in the river permits of only about one-half a boat's capacity being carried. With higher water this trouble will partly be overcome. The wheat recently sent to Minneapolis as an experiment and found unsalted to milling there, was not a good sample of Walla Walla. It is not probable that further shipments will be made in the near future. Our market has moved slowly but steadily along in spite of the decline abroad. Buyers have put in their time providing against future needs, and are by no means pressed for supplies for the present. Bids are $1 52½ for eastern and $1 60 for valley, but a shade advance is paid in the interior. At present, reported values at Walla Walla purchases equal $1 54 here. Another wooden cargo is reported sold lately at less than 43s per quarter, but the exact transaction is not obtainable at this time. Foreign markets continue slow and uninteresting as regards any prospect of advance.

FLOUR—Receipts larger, and more is going into store. The local call has picked up somewhat, and exporting promises larger. The Clan Ferguson was chartered for flour, the Banffshire is loading and the Scottish Prince nearly ready for cargo. These vessels take straight cargoes for Europe. We hear of no sales for export and local values are firm at $5 for standard brands, less usual trade discount.

MILLSTUFF—Increasing local receipts have not been of sufficient quantity to shake jobbing prices. Very little is now being received from California. Ground barley continues in good movement at $27@ $30 per ton. We quote bran $20@24, hop $29@ $33 50, middlings $30@35.

OATS—The market shows improvement over last week, owing to a general desire on the part of local consumers to stock up more than to any expected advance. Our local sales have been made at 50@51c for choice feed; common to good is quoted 48@50c. Reports of shipments from Puget sound cannot be traced, and it is not probable that we can draw from there at present values. The Sound ships large quantities to California on low freights, which cannot be had this way.

HOPS—Private London cables yesterday reported a better feeling, with advance probable. New York reports fair amount of business, with one sale of 800 bales at 28 cents, but not considered. Why our market does not improve more freely is not quite clear; for sellers would generally accept 20 cents, and there seems to be some margin between the and New York prices. [illegible] coming in are nearly all on outside [illegible]. Consignment lots come in slowly and no sales of choice are reported. Herren & Russell have received a consignment of Bavarian grown hops at Silverton.

WOOL—There is very little to report in this line. Choice is held at 18@19c, which is 1@2c above buyers' views. A half million pounds are being baled for eastern shipment.

HAY—Supplies larger and values show weakness. Quote, [illegible], baled, $18@21 50.

BUTTER—Supplies increasing and shading is resorted to in order to close out more promptly. Quote choice roll, 40@45c; good to choice packed, 30@40c.

EGGS—Market firm at 45c.

CHICKENS—Stocks still excessive. Quote young, $3@3 50; old, $4@4 50.

POTATOES—Stocks are quite large, and a choice article is required to bring over 60c. Sweets, 2½c.

FRUIT—Cantaloupes bring $1@1 25, common, 75c. Pears, $1@1 25. California fruit in light business.

PROVISIONS—There is a steady movement, and values are firm at: Choice Oregon hams 15@16c; best eastern, 19@21c; bacon, 11@14c; eastern lard, in pails, 13@13½c; Oregon tins, 14@15c; shoulders, 12@13c; a fraction advance is asked for very best cuts of meats, but lard is being shaded.

DRIED FRUITS—Market is firm for most kinds. Quote sun-dried apples, 12½c; Plummer dried apples in boxes, 18c; plums, 18c; Oregon prunes, 13c; German prunes, 10c; raisins, $2 25@2 50 per box, with usual advance for fractions; peaches 15@17c; pears, 16@17½c; California figs, 9c.

CHEESE—Quote Oal, 16c; local and eastern, 15@18c.

HIDES AND SKINS—Market weak for hides. We quote green hides, 7@8c ℔ lb; dry, 14@15c—culls, ⅓c off; deerskins, summer E. O, 30@35c; valley, 25@ 32c; winter, E. O., 18@20c; valley, 20@25c; elk, 14@16c. Indian dressed buckskins, 75c@$1; black bear per skin, $1 50@5; brown, $4@8; mink, dark, 10@50c; dark fisher, $1@4 50; red fox, 50@75c; mountain fox, 10@50c; pekins dark marten, 75c@$1 50; muskrats, 8c; badgers, 15c; raccoon, 10@25c; land otter, $1 50 @4; wolf, [illegible], 2@$1 50 once cat, 10c; wild cat, 10@20c; skunk, 10c; civets, 10c; [illegible].

Merchandise Market.

SUGAR—Stocks reduced. We quote: (A) patent cube, 12c; (A) crushed 12c; powdered, 12½c; dry granulated, 11⅞c; ex-golden C, 10⅝c; golden C, 10⅜c. Quotations are for barrels: halves, ¼c advance; boxes, ⅛@½c advance; island kegs, 9@3⅛c; D-bbls, 10c. New beet sugar offered at San Francisco at above prices.

COFFEE—Market very firm. We quote: Costa Rica, 14c; Guatemala good, 12@13c; Salvador, 12 @13c.

COAL OIL—Best brands quoted 27c; ordinary, 20 @25c.

BREAD, ETC.—We quote: Ship, 3½c; pilot, 3½@ 4c; soda crackers, 5½@6¼; other crackers, cakes and biscuits, 5@14c, as to variety.

RICE—Market steady and stocks being reduced. We quote island, $5 37½@5 50; China mixed, $4 60 @4 75.

SALT—Market firm at $18, $20 and $22 50 for Liverpool fine as to size of containers. Coarse California, $10 50@12 50.

BEANS—Market firm. Quote small whites, 3½c; Bayos, 4⅝c; pink, 4¼c; butter, 4½c.

BAGS AND TWINE—Grain bags, 22@36c; Calcutta, spot selling, 7@7¼c; wool bags, 3½ lbs, 42c; 3½ lbs, 46c; 4 lbs, 57½c; fleece twine, 12@14c; sewing twine, 30@35c.

CANNED GOODS—Market firm. We quote: Tomatoes, 2½'s $1 30, gallons $3 75@4; green corn, $1 60; pie fruits 2½'s $1 75, gallons $4 75; table peaches, $2 50@2 75; pie do, $2@2 25; assorted fruits, $2 75.

PICKLES—We quote $1 67½ per keg.

MEAT MARKET.

Following are rates for whole carcasses from slaughterers to dealers:

BEEF—First quality 4¼@4½ gross, with slight advance for stall fed.

VEAL—Small, 10c; large, 9c.

MUTTON—Wethers, gross, 2¾@3c; ewes, 2¼c.

LAMB—$1 75@2.

PORK—Live hogs, 5@6c; dressed, 7@8c. No demand from packers.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The State of California will be due to-morrow.

VITICULTURE.

PORTLAND, Oct. 24, 1883.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Your very excellent article on viticulture in yesterday's OREGONIAN encourages me to offer you a few more remarks on this subject. It is very true that the California grape growers made a great mistake in planting their vines in the heavy soils of the valleys—a great many are doing so yet and on a very large scale. Witness Governor Stanford's vineyard of 3000 acres and still increasing, located on rich Sacramento bottom. The rich soil, together with the semi-tropical climate, make the growth too rank, produces coarseness in the quality of the fruit. Within the last few years many vineyardists have been seeking the hillside, and the wine products of these new vineyards is of marked superior quality as compared with valley wine. Yet, I fear that California will not for a long time be able to produce anything equal to the light, delicate wines of France and Germany. California wines are too strong in alcohol, and I attribute this defect to the richness of the soil and to the excessive heat of the summer in the interior of the state.

Some of the wine makers, however are making great progress every year. It is noticeable that these progressive wine makers are with hardly an exception, either French or German. Their standards of excellence and perfection are the home wines, and they seem indefatigable in their efforts to overcome the many difficulties caused by differences of soil and climate.

Another great drawback—a real plague that is spreading through the grape growing districts—is the phylloxera, and great efforts are being made by some to combat it. A majority are too anxious to make money out of their present vines, and take no measures to prevent the spread of the disease. Many are so utterly indifferent as to replace dead vines by others of the same kind in the same place, which are immediately attacked by the pest and succumb in four or five years, after having aided the disease by giving it more food and breeding room. This plague has not made its appearance yet in the northern part of California, and it will, perhaps, never cross the Siskiyous; therefore, it will be perfectly safe to cultivate in southern Oregon any of those finer varieties of wine grapes, and those Manzanita hills will be just the place for the best vineyards in America—those that will produce a nice, fresh claret that will forever settle the vexatious water controversy.

I am not at all acquainted with the climate of southwestern Oregon, but a man of much experience in many countries can generally form a fairly correct opinion in such matters, and I should think that section very superior to California for the production of grapes for light wines and those for the table, and, in fact, of all fruits capable of being grown in this section. I do not believe that hilly region will be visited by those terrible north winds that so often and at all periods of the summer carry destruction throughout the best fruit belts of California, scalding the cherries, currants and grapes, often drying up the wheat before it has matured. The suggestion to young men to engage right now in this industry, is a good one. One very successful wine maker in Napa county, California, plants his cuttings in their proper place in the vineyard in the fall, the callous forms in the winter time, and when spring time comes, these cuttings put out their young leaves at the same time the rooted vines do, and the failures to grow are as few as if rooted cuttings had been planted. This is much the best mode of planting in a mild climate, and on a soil that is well drained.

But most young men wishing to engage in this business will not know how to go at it. Now, perhaps, have means enough to stock the farm with all the necessaries, and wait three or four years for returns, while at this time must be detained to work on the ranch. I would advise co-operation. Let several club together; this would greatly reduce the amount required from each one to start the thing. This partnership will constitute a sort of accident insurance concern; should one of them become disabled from any cause—they need not all be on the ranch together—one of the others can go and take his place. It enables one or more of the party to remain in the [illegible] contributing their [illegible] while the others contribute their labor. If they mean business, and stick to it, they will become a strong company in a very few years; and although it will require them several years of steady work and careful cultivation, they will find that a good vineyard is about as pleasant a business as they could handle, and a paying one too.

The wine growers of California are not satisfied with a lesser return than $200 per acre. Vineyard property is very high there, and that is probably the reason why the wine is also much too dear. Europeans, knowing of the absolute purity and genuineness of the California wines, would gladly buy it in preference to the much manufactured export wine of France; but the Californian's price is much too high, and this is also a strong argument in favor of this vineyard planting, for it shows that notwithstanding the enormous increase of vineyard acreage in California there is not yet enough competition, and there will be no material reduction in prices until the production is fully double what it is to-day.

So much for wine. But there are table grapes to be produced in large quantities, let us hope, for many centuries, before people will get tired of them. Those large, luscious bunches are in demand everywhere; people will have them at any price. Oregon ought to supply all the country opened up by the Northern Pacific system of railroads. Remember that preference will always be given to the fruit grown nearest the consumer. Oregon fruits should compete favorably with those of California in the eastern markets. California is now the only producer of these grapes in this country, and if we look upon the vast territory, the thousands of towns to be supplied, we can readily conclude that there is a safe investment in raising every year a few more thousands of tons of these fine table grapes.

There are in California many vineyard and general fruit-growing companies in successful operation. Water companies, mining companies and others have wisely been planting their hitherto useless, sterile hillsides into vineyards and orchards, and this new departure is, to use a very slang expression, taking the shine out of the old original business of these companies, because there is more money in it.

Not only young men, anxious to engage in some sound, lucrative business, but also capitalists and companies should see in this an immediate opportunity to increase their wealth and the prosperity and welfare of the whole country.

How General Grant Went Thirsty.

St. Nicholas for October.

A fire was soon and easily built, for dry wood was plenty, and soon the flames were crackling and lighting up the dusky woods. Taking our two canteens, Harter started off in search of water, leaving me to stretch myself out in the tent—and heartily wish myself at home.

"Well, you, Harry," said the sergeant, as they flung down their canteens on their return, "there isn't anything like military discipline. I went down the road here about a quarter of a mile and came out near General Grant's headquarters, in a clearing. Down at the foot of the hills in front of his headquarters is a spring; but it seems the surgeon of some hospital near by had got there before the general, and put a guard in the spring to keep it for the wounded. As I came up I heard the guard say to a darkey who had come to the spring for water with a bucket:

"'Get out of that, you black rascal! You can't have any water here!'

"'Guess I kin,' said the darkey. 'I want dis yer water for Gen'l Grant, an' he ain't no commandin' dis yer army?'

"'You touch that water and I'll run my bayonet through you!' said the guard. 'General Grant can't have any water from this spring till my orders are changed.'

"The darkey, saying that 'he'd see about dat,' went up the hill to headquarters and returned in a few moments, declaring that 'Gen'l Grant said dat you got to gib me water.'

"'You go back and tell General Grant,' said the corporal of the guard, coming up at the moment, 'that neither he nor any other general can get water at this spring until my orders are changed.'

"Now, you see, Harry," continued Harter as he gave me a tin cup on a stick to hold over the fire for coffee, while he cut down a slice of pork, "that's what I call discipline."

Wouldn't Spoil a Trade.

New York World.

Uncle Joe Mills has added to his many other accomplishments that of dealing successfully in horses. A short time ago he took one for a bad debt of $250, and immediately offered him for sale. A customer was soon found, and Mr. Mills took him out in the Central park behind the horse. Uncle Joe descanted volubly on the merits of the steed, and finally, as he turned around to go home, said: "Well, I don't know but I'll withdraw my offer to sell this horse and keep him for my own use."

His companion protested against this, said he liked the horse and was prepared to make a bid for him.

Mr. Mills hesitated a moment and then said: "I'll take $1,000 for the horse and not one cent less. He's the best horse that goes the road to-day, and he is dirt cheap at twice the price I ask."

"I'll give you $300 for him," was the quiet reply.

"Done with you sir," was the quick reply. "I'm not the man to dally splitting hairs on a horse trade."

A SAILOR THIRTY YEARS.

About three months ago I was taken with severe pains in the small of my back, in the region of the kidneys, from which I became a terrible sufferer. I consulted with a number of physicians, and finally placed myself under their treatment, they telling me I had the sciatic rheumatism and kidney complaint.

On examination, my urine was found to be in a very bad condition, of a very dark color, and impregnated with a heavy red brick dust deposit, and very offensive. I had the most careful and best medical attendance, and tried all the popular remedies, without experiencing any relief. Fortunately about this time Hunt's Remedy being called to my attention, I bought and used a bottle, with such satisfactory results that I continued on for six weeks, when, having used four bottles, I found I was as well as ever and entirely cured. All pains left me; my water returned to its natural color. I am now in excellent health and able to attend to my business (grocery).

Whenever an opportunity occurs to recommend your valuable medicine I always do so, as I am confident it will do all you claim for it, and that every time.

Yours, with gratitude,

CAPT. JOHN KIMBALL.

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 9, 1883.

ALEXANDER'S CASE.

About one year ago I was taken with a severe attack of disease of the kidneys, from which I suffered severely. I applied to our local physician, and not receiving any help, I called on Mr. John A. Morgan, our druggist, and stated my case. He immediately handed me a bottle of Hunt's Remedy, offering it as the great specific for that complaint. I commenced using it at once, and from the very start I began to improve, and by the time I had used the bottle was entirely well. I would advise any person having difficulty with the kidneys to give Hunt's Remedy a trial. I know of one case beside my own being cured, and would cheerfully recommend it to any one.

CHARLES H. ALEXANDER,

Foreman Dye House, Shetucket Mills,

I certify to the above being a true case, having sold the medicine to Mr. Alexander, and know him to be a gentleman respected highly in the position he holds.

DR. PAUL M. BRENAN

IS THE MOST SUCCESSFUL PHYSICIAN ON the Pacific coast in the treatment of all Chronic and Difficult Diseases of the Sexual Organs.

He will guarantee to cure any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease, if the patient follows his advice and treatment.

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease, weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female, including diseases caused by the FOLLIES OF YOUTH, such as Spermatorrhoea, or Seminal Weakness, or Loss of Perfect Vitality. Nearly two-thirds of all the chronic diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system, and yet this subject is neglected by a majority of the Medical Profession.

Persons afflicted by any form of sexual disease or weakness often delay in calling upon the proper physician in time, from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance, and permit those diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted, their organization broken down, and the hope of future happiness blighted, until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence. Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances. Lost manhood perfectly restored.

Catarrh, Bronchitis, Throat Diseases, Skin Diseases, Rheumatism, Kidney Complaint and all diseases of the Eye and Ear, Stomach and Bladder, he can cure without fail, if they are curable, and if not, he will tell you so.

Consultation Free, and a list of printed questions sent to those living at a distance who cannot consult him personally. Enclose postage stamp for list.

Swift's Specific has been the means of bringing health and happiness to thousands who were pronounced incurable of Blood and Skin Diseases.

HEAR THE WITNESSES:

Saved from a Horrible Death.

Up to May last I had spent at least five hundred dollars for treatment by many of the best medical men, without any benefit. I suffered excruciatingly, and all my best friends advised me that the icy hand of death was fast approaching. I caught at S.S.S. like a drowning man at a straw. After taking two bottles I could feel a change for the better. The sores began to discharge freely and the Rheumatism to abate. When I had taken six bottles every sore had healed and my skin began to assume a natural appearance. I persisted until I had taken twelve bottles, large size, and THERE IS NOT A SYMPTOM OF THE DISEASE REMAINING, and I feel as well as I ever did. I have gained twenty-one pounds in flesh, and my friends wonder at my improved condition. I have recommended it to many, and in every instance with complete success. I believe that S.S.S. has saved me from a horrible death.

C. H. SMILEY, Quincy, Ill.

I am sure that Swift's Specific saved my life. I was terribly poisoned with Malaria, and was given up to die. Swift's Specific relieved me promptly and entirely. I think it is the greatest remedy of the age.

U. S. MARSHAL'S NOTICE.—ADMIRALTY seizure. Steamship Queen of the Pacific. United States of America, District of Oregon, ss: Whereas a libel hath been filed in the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon, on the 18th day of October, 1883, by Messrs. Fechheimer and Ach, proctors, on behalf of George Flavel and others, in a cause of salvage, civil and maritime, and praying the usual process and monition of the court that all persons interested in the said vessel, her tackle, apparel and furniture may be cited to answer the premises, and, all due proceedings being had, that the same may be decreed to be sold and the proceeds thereof be distributed according to law. Therefore, in pursuance of the said monition, under the seal of said court, to me directed and delivered I do hereby give notice generally unto all persons having or pretending to have any right, title or interest therein to appear before the said court, at the city of Portland, in said district, on the 3d day of December, 1883, if it be a court day, or else on the next court day thereafter at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, then and there to answer the said libel and to make their allegations in that behalf.

EDWARD S. KEARNEY,

U. S. Marshal for the District of Oregon.

FECHHEIMER & ACH, proctors for libellants.

Dated in Portland, in said district, the 18th day of October, 1883. 18o15
